GREAT ARMY OF WORKERS TO RALLY MONDAY NIGHT

Unaudited Returns With Over Four Hundred Thousand Dollars in Audited Pledges, City Chairman DeWitt Says, Show That Ulster Has Reached the Half Million Mark, and He Expects to Add Another Quarter of a Million Monday.

COUNTY CHAIRMAN BRINNIER'S PROCLAMATION.

There are many people in Ulster county who have not as yet joined the Thousand Dollars Limit Club. All men and women of means should surely join this club and do so without any further delay. It surely will please the United States government where those who are patriotic enough and have the means to go to the limit in their pledges, loaning the government to the extent they are asked to invest. So kindly get on the band wagon and send in your pledges for the $1,000 limit.

W. D. BRINNIER,
County Chairman, W. S. S. Campaign

Grand Total Audited Friday Night, $405,803.00

The auditor of the pledges obtained in the War Savings Stamp drive and his accountants after auditing pledges to the amount of $405,803.00 Friday night audited further accounting until Monday night. Many pledge cards remained to be audited. But the hour was late. There were cards that the captains of the teams desired to add to those already turned in. The drive which has not at any time stopped, as City Chairman DeWitt pointed out, and which must necessarily go on through Monday, is to bring in a large reserve in the meantime.

County Chairman Brinnier announced that on Monday night all of the workers in the campaign should attend the meeting called for that evening and it is hoped that a large number from the outside towns will find it convenient to be present.

The towns through the county have done remarkably well. Two towns have gone over the top, a fact clinched by the pledges audited from those towns, Denning and Hurley. It is believed that most of the others will show the same result when all pledges have passed through the hands of Auditor Edward Coykendall. Certainly many of the towns will show pledges closely to the top. If the city shall have done as well the chairman and their committees will be well pleased.

City Chairman DeWitt announced that the pledge cards have been placed in the banks and post offices. All those who have pledged for June payments at the price of $4.17 must make their payment on the cards at the bank or other places where the payments are to be made, today. All post offices will be open until 8 this evening and the banks will keep a later hour today than usual. The price fixed on the War Savings Stamps will go into effect Monday.

The secretaries of the war savings societies, so many of which have been organized in the city and county, should bear this in mind.

The response to the call for members of the Thousand Dollar Limit Club has been quite satisfactory to the managers of Ulster county drive. It is recognized that a great many men and women are desirous of investing in this gift edged security to the limit allowed. Doubtless many have not as yet been seen by the solicitors. A number have gone direct to their banks and invested to the limit. Their names do not appear in the drive. The towns have reported a few who have invested to the limit. Probably there are many others. The additional names that have reached the committee making them eligible for membership in the club are:

Max Jacobson and family
Carl Fischer
Charles Ramsey
Esther Sahler
E. G. Smith
Mrs. M. W. Gallagher
Mrs. E. H. Washburn
Philip Elting
Kingston Savings Bank
Myron Baker, Rochester
Edna Baker, Rochester
Leonard Markle, Rochester.
It is announced that there are important matters to be placed before the big force of workers and an important announcement to be made Monday evening.

The amounts pledged by the members of the War Savings Societies that have been organized in the city, some of them not previously reported, amounts that have gone into the hands of the auditors are as follows:

Van Slyke & Horton (42 pledges)	$2,455.00
Jacobson Shirt Factory (124 pledges)	2,080.00
Lenahan's ship yard (74)	1,880.00
Fuller's shirt factory (180)	2,965.00
Huck Food Products (34)	905.00
Miller-Aikenhead (19)	165.00
Universal Road Machinery Co. (5 new pledges)	45.00
Fessenden Shirt Co. (67)	490.00
U. S. Lace Mill (8)	1,275.00
Herbert Brush Co. (10)	3,110.00
Dr. Sahler's Sanitarium (2)	2,680.00
Nitro Powder	4,175.00

WAR SAVINGS IS PATRIOTIC TEST

State Director of W. S. S. Sees in an Address Sent Out to the County by Secretary of Treasury William G. McAdoo an Endorsement of Senator Tully's Own Opinion.

This morning Chairman Brinnier received the following telegram from William J. Tully, state director of war savings drive, which speaks for itself:

Syracuse, N. Y., June 28, 1918.
Hon. William D. Brinnier, Kingston, N. Y.

I am requested by William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, to transmit the following message to the people of New York state: "I earnestly hope that every American has joined the army of war savers. The fighting power of the nation will be strengthened more by saving than by any other thing. It is the one universal thing that every patriot can do. Money saved means labor and materials saved and transmitted into irresistible and victorious force against the enemies of America and the world. Let every true patriot sign the war savings pledge."

I do not believe there are any other kind of folks in the state of New York than Americans and patriots. I have been criticized in a few places because the war savings committee of this state was making the war savings pledge a test of patriotism. My own opinion is that it is a very good test of patriotism and I am glad to have the endorsement of the secretary of the treasury. Let every man, woman in this state, on their conscience decide and I do not fear the answer. Unless every county in this state does pledge itself to take its fully quota of this government security the Empire State will not occupy position it has in every other way activity. I ask every county chairman in the state to give this message from the secretary of the treasury fullest possible publicity Saturday morning.

State Director.

EXPRESS MERGER EFFECTIVE JULY 1

Thereafter Packages Will Simply Go "By Express," Without Naming Any Company—Duplication of Work Avoided.

The American Railway Express Company will be the official name of the new corporation, which on July 1 will take over the operation of the express business on all the railroads in the United States. An announcement to this effect was made last night by F. J. Haas, local manager of the American Express.

Following the completion of the merger into the new company of three other express lines, it became apparent that nearly 100 per cent of the total mileage of all the railroads of the country will be operated under the new plan, and the American Railway Express Company was selected as best suited to cover the situation.

Final arrangements have been made to include in the new company the Northern Express, the Great Northern Express and the Western, which up to a recent date had not come into the merger. They operate in the middle west, the Northern covering the Northern Pacific; the Great Northern on the railroad of the same name, and the Western on the "Soo" Line.

Since the contract was made with the Railroad Administration, express operating and accounting officials have been hard at work unifying the vast operations of these companies so as to have the new system in effect on July 1. After that date, all express wagons will be operated by one company, and all matter will be shipped simply "by express."

The officials of the new company have been drawn from the old companies, and new realignment of operating territories is now being planned. The appointment of F. P. Small, vice president and secretary of the American Express, to be secretary of the new company, has just been announced.

Caleb S. Spencer, vice president and treasurer of Adams, will be vice president and treasurer of the new company. Other appointments of chief and assisting operating officials will be made shortly.

CAMP UPTON MEN IN FIGHTING ZONE

Ulster County Men Among First of National Army to See Action—Kansas National Guard at Front—No Tidings of New York Guardsmen.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, June 29.—The first American troops sent direct from the United States to Italy reached there yesterday, Chief of Staff General P. C. March announced today. These troops are mostly non-combatants comprising sanitary corps units. Already a regiment of fighting men has been sent to Italy from France by General Pershing and he will send such additional fighting units to the Italian front as the supreme war council of Versailles shall deem necessary.

General March also announced that five divisions of American troops who have been training with the British army have completed that training and now have been turned back to General Pershing. These troops, of course, will now be available for service at such points as General Pershing and Supreme Commander in Chief Foch deem necessary.

The first division of the National Army—the selective army—to enter the fighting zone and take its part in the operations against the Germans was the 77th Division, General March announced. This was the division which was trained at Camp Upton, N. Y., by Major General J. Franklin Bell and is made up of New York city drafted men for the most part. It was taken to France by Brigadier General Evan Johnson.

General March also announced that the 35th National Guard Division, made up of Kansas and Missouri troops, now is on the fighting line. It was trained at Camp Upton, Fort Sill, Okla., by Major William M. Wright, who took it across.

The chief of staff explained that all of the recent fighting in the American sectors has been of a local character in which the troops of the United States have more than held their own. Now that the ban has been lifted against mentioning individuals in the news dispatches, the general believes the press will have plenty of incidents showing the good work our troops are doing.

In the absence of any official information dealing with the latest British advance, General March would not attempt to interpret the situation or make any explanations concerning it. However, he said that the general situation along the entire western front was extremely favorable to the allies.

The general refused to give and figures at this time on increases of the number of American troops in or on the way to France. He said that he would have something to say about this later and this was interpreted to mean that it will come in the form of a Fourth of July statement.

THIRTY-FIVE WOMEN ALIENS REGISTERED

Chief of Police Wood stated this morning that thirty-five women aliens had registered at police headquarters as required by the government. Any woman in the city who has not registered, and who under the law must do so, should report to Chief Wood immediately, as within the next ten days the chief will have an investigation made to ascertain if any in the city have evaded the law. Those who have not registered and are found will find that it will be very uncomfortable for them.

Boy Drowned at Malden.

While sailing boats in the Hudson river near the Pulver dock at Malden, Thursday afternoon, Herbert, the six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Clyde Hoyer, accidentally fell into the river and was drowned. The body was later recovered. The boy's parents reside at Elizabeth, N. J., and were visiting at Malden.

HUGE WAR PROFITS MADE IN MEAT, FLOUR, COAL AND OIL

Food Administration Rulings Ignored and Profit Greatly Increased in Defiance of Government Orders, According to Report of Federal Trade Commission to Congress.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, June 29.—The Federal Trade Commission laid wide open before the United States senate this afternoon complete and startling exposure of what it termed flagrant profiteering carried on by the huge manufacturing and distributing concerns and monopolies.

The commission directly charged many of them with inordinate greed and bare faced fraud. The report covers a thorough research into the enormous profits of the five big packers, the flour-milling trade, producers of basic metals, oils and chemicals, coal and lumber, leather and canning industries, and is in response to a request from congress which will probably check the profiteers through the enactment of more effective criminal statutes.

The commission strikes at industries whose output is price regulated by the government, showing that heavy profits are being made by the low cost concerns. It charges the Big Five packers, Armour, Swift, Morris, Wilson and Cudahy, and their subsidiary companies, with manipulations of the market that embrace "every device that is useful to them without regard to law."

The packers reward, the report says, is expressed in terms of profit revealing that four concerns alone have pocketed in 1915-1916 and 1917, $149,000,000, most of it excess profits. The average pre-war profit for these concerns, omitting Wilson and Company, during the period of 1912-1913 and 1914, was $19,000,000. During the three war years, these firms made an excess of $121,000,000 over the pre-war gains.

"Preyed Upon the People."

The commission refers to the meat industry thus:

"However, deliberate definition is framed for 'profiteering' these packers have preyed upon the people unconscionably. They are soon to come under further governmental regulation approved by executive order."

While the sales of these companies during this period increased 150 per cent, the return of profit increased 400 per cent, the report charges, or two and one-half times as much as the sales.

The profit taken by Morris & Company is reported by the commission at 263.7 per cent on the three millions of capital stock outstanding. The pre-war average was 8.6 per cent, it says. In the case of the other four packers, they earned a rate on common capital stock that was much lower, the commission says, reporting it as ranging from 27 per cent to 37 per cent. The reason for this is the frequent announcement of stock dividends and capitalization of their growing surpluses.

Armour and Company raised its $20,000,000 capital stock in 1916 to $100,000,000 without receiving a dollar more of cash. This prevented them, the report says, from showing enormous rates of profit on their original capital. Earnings of independent packers, the report adds further, are as high or slightly higher, than those of the big five.

Turning up a rich vein of industrial subterfuges in cost, competition and accounting, the commission reveals to the senate faults in the federal regulation of maximum prices, done "spurred up" production, but acting often to harass the smaller concerns and bring huge profits to the large firms able to work on big production bases.

The report shows firms paying officers salaries of more than $100,000 annually to enhance the operating expenses where the government fixes a definite margin above costs. Items of depreciation have been padded; interest on investments are included in costs; construction work is recorded as repairs, fictitious values are put on raw materials, and inventories have been manipulated; commercial bribery has been rampant, and resale prices have been maintained or increased, the report says. In many cases goods were sold at spot prices which had been contracted for as futures.

The Big Five packers have been remotely connected with the salmon canning industry and the report devotes further investigation to the leather business in connection with the packers. Evidence of how the owners of packing industries manipulated the leather industry, making enormous profit in hides, and reacting likewise on the retail shoe market is shown in copies of various letters submitted in the report.

control in the leather industry and suggesting the advisability of re-appropriating their properties in certain companies. Edward F. replies, "I approve, if done quietly and promptly."

"E. F. S." Indication of the earnings of the big packers in the selling branch of their leather business is shown in the following letter of January 17, 1917, by the Eastern Leather Company, an Armour selling subsidiary, to F. W. Croll, of Armour & Company:

Dividend 53 Per Cent.
"We are enclosing our check on the National City Bank, New York, payable to Mr. J. Ogden Armour, for $915,787.00, same being a dividend of 53 per cent on the 17,279 shares of common stock standing in his name. In addition to this, and in accordance with our conversation in Chicago, we have set aside as a surplus $250,000 which represents ten per cent of the common stock. We are also enclosing a check on the National City Bank for $202,145.67, payable to Mr. Armour, this being the balance due of 6,020 shares of common stock held for employees."

Another letter to H. W. Boyd, president of the Armour Leather Company, shows that earnings for three months ended April 28, 1917, were $1,964,945. The same man writes to Mr. Armour, telling him that while the Central Leather Company does four times as much business as the Armour Company, they made only $1,900,000, and after deducting for bonds and dividends, had only $40,000 left to apply to their surplus. The writer added: "I think, considering their lumber business, which is wonderful—the manager of the Pennsylvania Lumber Company told me that they never expected to realize the profit they were making on hemlock lumber and that they were doing by an enormous business—that our statement is a great deal better than theirs."

Flour Profits Trebled.

The report on flour milling shows that in the face of the food administration ruling, the average profit per barrel on flour to the milling industry to March, 1918, was about 45 cents, or three times the normal profit per barrel. The return on investment was about 25 to 30 per cent. The commission says that while the profit received by jobbers was exorbitant in the first part of 1917, the food administration has succeeded in keeping it "within twice the normal rate over earlier years."

Oil Profits 122 Per Cent.

The commission's survey of the petroleum industry states that no price for the public has been fixed by the government. The profits have increased from the pre-war average of 15 per cent to figures ranging as high as 122 per cent. The report says that rumors were circulated that the supply of gasoline was endangered in order to keep up the retail price and to insure heavy profits. The reports stated further that enormous profits are now made in fuel oil, with the advantage to the refiner that the product meets no popular demand. In 1917 over fifty per cent of the estimated production of petroleum or petroleum products enjoyed a profit of more than 20 per cent on investment.

Coal Profits Quadrupled.

The average margin for coal in 23 bituminous coal fields in Pennsylvania was 20 cents per ton in 1916, compared to 90 cents in 1917. The highest margin for any of the companies was $1.85; it was 41 cents in 1918. The commission report shows figures for April operators, covering more than 12 million tons from West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky show an actual profit of 54 cents as against a pre-war margin of 10 to 15 cents. The average receipt per ton of anthracite in January and March in 1918 was $4.26. It was $2.55 per ton in 1914.

Steel or Steel?

The commission's report, with reference to the steel business, that the operation of the cost plus a margin of profit system has enriched the stronger mills by profits that are without precedent. The United States Steel Corporation shows profit increases from 5.2 per cent in 1915 to 24.9 per cent in 1917, represented by $478,294,343 before war taxes were deducted.

The reduction of taxes left the net income at $244,738,442 of which one-tenth was applicable to interest on bonds and the rest for dividends and surplus.

Copper, Too.

Large earnings were made in the copper industry, the report shows, profits in 1917 ranging from one to 107 per cent on investments. The average profit was 24.4 per cent and the average profit since pre-war times has about doubled.

Zinc Not So Bad.

Records of the commission's figures on zinc show no unusual profits in the industry, the New Jersey Zinc Company, because of a natural monopoly of the ore showing 1917 profits of 56 per cent. Reports on the

WAR AT A GLANCE

Fighting activity has increased on the Aisne-Marne front for the time being, but it is too early to predict that this is the forerunner of another German drive in that district.

It is more likely that the next big German effort will be made in the north, in the direction of the Channel ports.

Terrific cannonading has been in progress on the Flanders front for several days and yesterday it was varied by a strong British thrust which resulted in the capture of more than 100 prisoners and a general advance by the British troops over a wide front.

The Germans have been making progress on the Flanders front for the time being, but it is too early to predict that this is the forerunner of another German drive in that district.

In this same zone the Italians have struck again, winning some advanced positions from the Germans in the Mount Eligny sector, southwest of Rheims. Italian forces on this part of the battle line have been more or less active for a week, "nibbling" at the German front.

The Americans made an effective and northwest of Montdidier capturing forty prisoners. The French war office in announcing this operation today did not go into details but the raid must have been carried out in force to result in the bag of such a large number of Germans.

The internal situation in Russia continues vague with conflicting reports coming out of Stockholm.

It has been impossible to obtain confirmation of the rumors that the Bolshevik regime has been overthrown, that Grand Duke Nicholas has been named emperor and that the former czar, Nicholas Romanoff, has been assassinated. The only thing certain is that chaos reigns in the grief stricken country.

WATER'S ICE HOUSE WAS SET ON FIRE

About 3 o'clock this morning an attempt was made to destroy the ice house of F. A. Waters by fire, but fortunately the blaze was discovered in time and a still alarm sent in to the fire department. The quick response of the department to the alarm prevented the ice house from being destroyed, and the damage was slight. The house was filled with ice. Sergeant Hanley made an investigation later in the morning and reached the same conclusion arrived at by Fire Chief Chipp that an attempt had been made to set fire to the ice house. The ice house is located at the end of Lawrence street.

nickel industry show that the International Nickel Company is the dominating factor. In 1917 the company's profits were about 30 per cent.

Salmon Profits Doubled.

The margin for canned salmon per case has mounted from 28 cents to 54 cents per case. The average return per case in 1917 was $8.29 and the average investment in 1917 was $4.32.

The commission states that the worst offender in the canned milk supply has been the Helvetia Company, which voluntarily acknowledged in a letter that it was forced to maintain an increased price to protect its business. The Borden Condensed Milk Company is named with other firms as party to a strong combination in keeping up high milk prices. Borden made 18 per cent on cost, and the Helvetia made 20 per cent profit on cost.

Lumbermen Not Profiteers.

The report on lumber declared there was comparatively no profiteering on the lumber projects of the Southern Pine Producers, despite the fact they have millions of feet in contracts for wooden ships.

HUGE WAR PROFITS MADE IN MEAT, FLOUR, COAL AND OIL

Food Administration Rulings Ignored and Profit Greatly Increased in Defiance of Government Orders, According to Report of Federal Trade Commission to Congress.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, June 29.—The Federal Trade Commission laid wide open before the United States senate this afternoon complete and startling exposure of what it termed flagrant profiteering carried on by the huge manufacturing and distributing concerns and monopolies.

The commission directly charged many of them with inordinate greed and bare faced fraud. The report covers a thorough research into the enormous profits of the five big packers, the flour-milling trade, producers of basic metals, oils and chemicals, coal and lumber, leather and canning industries, and as in response to a request from congress which will probably check the profiteers through the enactment of more effective criminal statutes.

The commission strikes at industries whose output is price regulated by the government, showing that heavy profits are being made by the low cost concerns. It charges the Big Five packers, Armour, Swift, Morris, Wilson and Cudahy, and their subsidiary companies, with manipulation of the market that embrace every device that is useful to them without regard to law.

The packers reward, the report says, is expressed in terms of profit, revealing that four concerns alone have pocketed in 1915-1916 and 1917, $140,000,000, most of it excessive profits. The average pre-war profit for these concerns, omitting Wilson and Company, during the period of 1912-1913 and 1914, was 10 per cent. During the later war years, these firms made an excess of $121,000,000 over the pre-war gains.

"Preyed Upon the People."
The commission refers to the meat industry thus: "However delicate a definition is framed for 'profiteering' these packers have preyed upon the people unconscionably. They are soon to come under further governmental regulation approved by executive order."

While the sales of these companies during this period increased 150 per cent, the return of profit increased 400 per cent, the report charges, or two and one-half times as much as the sales.

The profit taken by Morris & Company is reported by the commission at 26.7 per cent on the three millions of capital stock outstanding. The pre-war average was 8.6 per cent, it says. In the case of the other four packers, they earned a rate on common capital stock that was much lower, the commission says, reporting it as ranging from 27 per cent to 27 per cent. The reason for this is the frequent announcement of stock dividends and capitalization of their growing surpluses. Armour and Company raised its $200,000,000 capital stock in 1916 to $100,000,000 without receiving a dollar more of cash. This prevented the report, it says, from showing enormous rates of profit on their original capital. Earnings of independent packers, the report adds further, are as high or slightly higher, than those of the big five.

Turning up a rich vein of industrial subterfuges in cost, competition and accounting, the commission reveals to the senate faults in the federal regulation of maximum prices, done to "speed up" production, but acting often to harass the smaller concerns and bring huge profits to the large firms able to work on big production basis.

The report shows firms paying officers salaries of more than $100,000 annually to enhance the operating expenses where the government fixes a definite margin above costs. Items of depreciation have been padded; interest on investments are included in costs; construction work is recorded as repairs, fictitious values are put on raw materials, and inventories have been manipulated; commercial bribery has been rampant, and resale prices have been maintained or increased, the report says. In many cases goods were sold at "spot" prices which had been contracted for as futures.

The Big Five packers have been remotely connected with the salmon canning industry and the report devotes further investigation to the leather business in connection with the packers. Evidence of how the owners of packing industries manipulated the leather industry, making enormous profit in hides, and reacting likewise on the retail shoe market is shown in copies of various letters submitted in the report.

The way in which Swift & Company proceeds when a government limitation of profits is expected, the commission says, is shown by a letter in which Louis F. Swift writes to his brother, Ed. F. Swift, stating that he has learned that the government expects to establish a profit

Fighting activity has increased on the Aisne-Marne front for the time being, but it is too early to predict that this is the forerunner of another German drive in that district.

It is more likely that the next big German effort will be made in the north, in the direction of the Channel ports.

Terrific cannonading has been in progress on the Flanders front for several days and yesterday it was varied by a strong British thrust which resulted in the capture of more than 400 prisoners and a general advance by the British troops over a wide front.

The Germans have been making vain efforts south of the Aisne river to recapture ground which they had lost on Friday.

In this same zone the Italians have struck again, winning some advanced positions from the Germans in the Monte Bligny sector, southwest of Rheims. Italian forces on this part of the battle line have been more or less active for a week, "nibbling" at the German front.

The Americans made an effective raid northwest of Montdidier capturing forty prisoners. The French war office in announcing this operation today did not go into details but the raid must have been carried out in force to result in the bag of such a number of Germans.

The internal situation in Russia continues vague with conflicting reports coming out of Stockholm.

It has been impossible to obtain confirmation of the rumors that the Bolshevik regime has been overthrown, that Grand Duke Nicholas has been named emperor and that the former czar, Nicholas Romanoff, has been assassinated. The only thing certain is that chaos reigns in the grief stricken country.

WATER'S ICE HOUSE WAS SET ON FIRE

About 3 o'clock this morning an attempt was made to destroy the ice house of F. A. Waters by fire, but fortunately the blaze was discovered in time and a still alarm sent in to the fire department. The quick response of the department to the alarm prevented the ice house from being destroyed; and the damage was slight. The house was filled with ice. Sergeant Hanley made an investigation later in the morning and reached the same conclusion arrived at by Fire Chief Chipp that an attempt had been made to set fire to the ice house. The ice house is located at the end of Lawrence street.

Nickel Industry Show That the International Nickel Company is the dominating factor. In 1917 the company's profits were about 30 per cent. Salmon Profits Doubled.
The margin for canned salmon per case has mounted from 28 cents to 54 cents per case. The average return per case in 1917 was $8.23 and the average investment in 1917 was $4.22.

The commission states that the worst offender in the canned milk supply has been the Helvetia Company, which voluntarily acknowledged in a letter that it was forced to maintain an increased price to protect its business. The Borden Condensed Milk Company is named with other firms as parties to a strong combination in keeping up high milk prices. Borden made 15 per cent on cost, and the Helvetia made 30 per cent profit on cost.

Lumbermen Not Profiteers.
The report on lumber declared there was comparatively no profiteering in the industry. The lumber projects of the Southern Pine Producers, despite the fact they have millions of feet in

IN DEFENCE OF THE PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS

Pastor Schroeder Declares that the German Lutheran Children Are Taught Loyalty to American Institutions and German is Taught Only as a Language.

Public attention has been drawn to the Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church on Livingston street, by the report of the pastor, the Rev. Frederick T. Schroeder made at the W. S. S. meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday night in which the astute clergyman explained how he had introduced in Kingston a most ingenious way of raising funds for building after the war, by voluntarily pushing the War Savings Stamp drive with the young people in his own church.

The plan had been a large success. He had got the idea from an Albany church which netted in War Savings Stamps by a church drive $18,000. "The plan met with the approval of our war building committee," said Mr. Schroeder in speaking of it afterward, "and we got enthusiastic responses. The city was already distracted in which the young people of our church were experienced in collecting funds for our church work so that they knew just where to go and had worked together in teams of two. They are acquainted with all whom they had to see and they were enthusiastically supported both by our church societies and individual members who invested liberally in the stamps. It was a great saving of time. Permanent organization of that sort for raising funds for all church purposes is most efficient and makes a good showing. This is not what is called a wealthy church. We have only 400 communicants. Some of our members have been worshipping in the church since it was founded. Those who I can recall are Frank Gronemeyer on Brewster street and Fred Weideman, Sr., on Mary's street.

"This society was founded and the church built in 1870. For seven years ago there was no change in the structure. At that time the old pulpit gave place to a handsome altar and new pulpit, a place being made for them by changing the line of the wall and providing for the vestry. The interior was handsomely decorated. The church has a fine large pipe organ.

The parochial school has an attendance of 75 young children. The teachers are H. M. Demgen, who has been there thirty-four years and E. E. Eshes. "We are sadly in need of more room for the school and modern conveniences for assemblies, for social events and for instruction in physical culture," said Mr. Schroeder. "Of course the plans for the new building are not even thought out. There is plenty of time when we know we can have a new school."

The pastor preaches Sunday mornings in German and evenings in English. There are many of his congregation who have never worshipped except in German and it would be a serious matter to the church if the pastor was required to preach exclusively in English.

He has no doubt that in course of time, as the old Germans who brought their language, church and home customs to this country pass away, the use of all other than the English language will die out.

The Rev. Mr. Schroeder believes fully that foreign languages in this country disappear with the third and fourth generations of foreign speaking citizens. The Norwegian and Swedes usually lose their old country language, as he calls it, in two generations, he says. Speaking of the parochial schools he regards them as not in any way inimical to loyal citizenship. He refers to the oft repeated remark that the parochial schools do not participate in public funds and that they are the means of religious rather than secular instruction, for they keep in the minds of the pupils their church connections and train them to uphold the faith in which the children are born and raised. Without the parochial schools, the churches would gradually lose their strength in numbers and their influence. Parochial schools are the upholders of the churches. To Mr. Schroeder there does not appear any reason to object to them in a free country in which church and state are separated.

"The teachings in our own schools (the Lutheran parochial) are only partly in German. The most important branch of instruction, arithmetic, is taught from English text books. It would be silly to provide those text books in any language other than English in this country, an English speaking nation. I have often heard it said that our German text books have the name of the Kaiser in them. This is not so. Nowhere is he mentioned. Most of our children learn to talk German, it is true, but the course of German we use is the same as German in the high school course. With us it is taught only as a language and for little practical use except where business needs call for it. In comparatively a few cases does it take the place of the English." He referred to a booklet published in the interest of evangelical Lutheranism which he said he wished that anyone who doubted the spirit of the parochial schools would read. This absolutely refutes the charge of pro-Germanism made against the German Lutherans. It repudiates Kaiserism in every form. It shows that the teachers in the Lutheran parochial schools are without exception American citizens and that 98 per cent are born in this country. They do not foster the love for the German government, or for German institutions. There are very few schools in the Missouri synod which do not employ the English language as the medium of instruction in all common school branches. "Our course of study conforms to the state syllabus. We have eight grades. Our own school has permission from the state department of education to conduct the regents here. It is estimated that in our branch of the synod there are a million souls and statisticians tell us they own twenty-five millions liberty bonds.

MEN WHO WILL ENTRAIN MONDAY

Twenty-seven to Leave For Special Course of Mechanical Training in Government Schools.

Local boards of Divisions 1 and 2 of Ulster county will furnish a total of 27 men, under the special calls, to entrain from Kingston Monday morning. Division 1 will furnish 13 men and Division 2 will furnish 8 men under call 737 to go to Buffalo Technical High school. The other men are to be sent to the following places: 3 to Troy, 1 to Jersey City, 1 to Yonkers, 1 to New York City. These men are all white men, grammar school graduates with some mechanical experience, and class 1 men qualified for general military service.

Owing to the short notice and the large territory embraced in Division 2, the local board for this division had to draft the men, taking them eligible for the occupations listed under the call. The men were drafted in the sequence of their order numbers.

There will be no parade Monday morning, as has been the custom when the other conscripts entrained. Owners of automobiles are asked to donate their cars to convey the men to the West Shore station. Those willing to donate their cars are asked to notify the draft boards today or tomorrow. Telephone 1163-J.

All the men to entrain Monday are to report Sunday afternoon at the office of Board 1 in the surrogate's office to be inducted into the service and receive their comfort kits and Red Cross supplies.

The men going to Buffalo will leave on the 11:05 a. m. West Shore train. The men assigned to Yonkers will leave on this train. The men going to New York and New Jersey will leave on the 1:00 p. m. West Shore train. The men assigned to Yonkers will go by the way of the New York Central, leaving here on the 10:33 p. m. train.

The following are to entrain under Call 737 for Buffalo.

Division 2 Men.

1111-1758—Edward C. Osterhout, Saugerties, R. R. 4.
1055-409—Paul Sepsey, High Falls.

Silver Jubilee of Father Bamberg.

The Rev. Theodore Bamberg, rector of St. Andrew's parish in Ellenville, who celebrates his silver jubilee in the priesthood Monday, has sent to many Kingston friends handsome engraved cards with attractive souvenir enclosures. He began his priesthood in Louvain, Belgium, the city that has been devastated with sword and shell by the Germans, and was afterwards located in Dusseldorf, Germany. This clergyman has often appeared in churchly functions in Kingston and has a wide acquaintance with Kingston people.

Carboy in Chemical Machine Broke.

Burning Five at Arlington.

Three members of the Arlington Fire Department and two boy spectators were severely burned by sulphuric acid during a fire Friday which destroyed the home of Mrs. Mary Myers, opposite the driving park in Southeast avenue, Arlington, causing loss of $7,000. The Arlington company was just preparing to return to their quarters when an explosion caused by the breaking of a carboy in their chemical machine scattered the acid over the men and by-standers.

Newburgh Murderess Dead.

Lizzie Halliday, arch-murderess, with three women, and a man as her victims, died Thursday night in the Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminal Insane from chronic Bright's disease. Thus is written the last chapter of the story of a Borgia, a woman of mystery, who killed apparently from sheer lust of killing. Her Newburgh victims were Mrs. Margaret McQuallan and her daughter, Sarah, both of whom Mrs. Halliday shot to death in 1893 in the home of her husband near Burlington, Sullivan county. The bodies were later found in the hay in a barn on the farm. Later the body of her husband, Paul Halliday, was found. He had been killed before the women and his body hidden away. While an inmate at Matteawan she killed Nellie Weeks, an attendant, who had been particularly good to her.

Bath Beach is Open.

Bath Beach, Kingston Point, is now open for the season of 1918. The grounds have been cleaned and the ladies' dressing rooms completely renovated, making the rooms very cool and comfortable. Rock floors have been placed in the house and a lady attendant has been engaged.

Both you and the government cannot use the same labor and materials.

John Goodsell, 74 years old, who resides at the corner of Delaware avenue and Crane street, while at work on the roof of the residence of Alfred T. Ashby, No. 18 Ponckhockie street, on Friday, was seized with a dizzy spell and fell from a ladder, striking on the back of his head and fracturing his skull. He was removed to the Kingston City Hospital by Dr. A. A. Stern, who was summoned, and operated upon. While still unconscious this morning, his condition was thought to be more favorable.

O'Donnell is Improving.

Frank O'Donnell, of Hoffman street, who sustained a fractured skull by a fall from a boat at the Hiltzbrant shipyard at Connelly, is reported as slightly improved at the Kingston City Hospital to which he was removed after the accident.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, June 29.—Favorable news from France overnight, had an influence in causing higher prices at the opening of the stock market today, but business continued quiet and the changes in quotations in nearly all cases being limited to small fractions. Steel Common, made a gain of $\frac{1}{2}$ to 108 $\frac{1}{2}$, and then reacted to 108 $\frac{1}{2}$. Baldwin was off $\frac{1}{2}$, opening at 93 $\frac{1}{2}$. Crucible was in fairly good demand, advancing $\frac{1}{2}$ to 69 $\frac{1}{2}$. Bethlehem B dropped $\frac{1}{2}$ to 85 $\frac{1}{2}$ and Republic Iron and Steel made a gain of $\frac{1}{4}$ to 93 $\frac{1}{2}$. There was continued activity in Sinclair Oil, which advanced $\frac{1}{4}$ to 33 $\frac{1}{2}$. Anaconda was also in demand, advancing $\frac{1}{2}$ to 68. United Cigar Stores opened up $\frac{1}{2}$ to 192 $\frac{1}{2}$, and then reacted to 192. Reading advanced $\frac{1}{2}$ to 93 $\frac{1}{2}$.

The market closed steady today with nearly all the interest concentrated in the copper shares. American Smelting advanced $\frac{1}{2}$ to 80 $\frac{1}{2}$, and Anaconda was fractionally higher, closing at 68 and Utah closed at 82 $\frac{1}{2}$. U. S. Steel was finally 108 $\frac{1}{2}$. Marine Preferred 102 $\frac{1}{2}$. Mexican Petroleum 99 $\frac{1}{2}$, and Sinclair 33 $\frac{1}{2}$.

"Ah, I Have Had a Fine Meal."

I will have had an adventure. But how queerly those children did act. They ran for all they were worth. I really don't understand it at all. Children come to the circus and gaze and gaze at us, and tell their mothers and their daddies how nice they think we are. But how they did run! I had come to pay them a nice call. "Sniff-sniff, what is it I smell?" continued the bear. And then he jumped around for joy. "Goodies! Food! Wonderful, wonderful food! How kind of the dear little children. They really expected me to lunch—and when I came they didn't want to make me feel uncomfortable by watching me eat. And so they left me to enjoy all these fine lunches by myself. What a story I will have to tell the other animals!"

"Delicious, delicious," the bear kept repeating.

"And this little morsel is good, too! Ah, the very kind of sandwich I like—and this one too—my favorite!"

"Ah, I have had a fine meal, a luxurious meal, fit for a king—no, fit for a bear!" And the bear rubbed his front paw over his well-filled tummy and again growled delightedly to himself some more, saying over and over again: "Delicious; such a meal!"

And as the day was rather mild and as the bear didn't mind the cloudy weather he went outside of the school and chose as his bed for a noonday nap the flower bed in front of the school, which was filled with little tulips and daffodils and jonquils.

"A bed of dowers in truth," said the bear.

But along came the keeper of the animals of the circus and led the bear back to his cage. For a circus was traveling through the country and when they had stopped for a rest this bear had escaped. But what a tale he had to tell when he was back in the circus again!

When It Starts.

Not always, but almost always, the beginnings of mental and moral inferiority are in the home. Educate parents to the supreme importance of home training of children and the problems of vice, crime and poverty will be far on the way to solution.

Expert Malone at "Y."

J. L. Malone, the expert billiardist from New York City, gave an exhibition of fancy shots at the Y. M. C. A. today evening that proved interesting and entertaining. He followed his exhibition by playing a game with Harry Harrison and closed the evening program playing pool with Harrison, Alonzo Rose and Harry P. Dodge.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

AN UNINVITED GUEST.

"Now, children," said the teacher to a class of boys and girls, "we will have a lesson in geography, and then it will be lunch time."

Now in this school the children usually brought their lunches in little brown boxes. The schoolhouse was in the country, and the children lived in all directions.

And, too, it was fun to take their lunch with them. It was like a party—lunchtime in school. So it was good news when the teacher told them that soon they would have their lunch.

Geography came next, but soon it was over and it was time for lunch. The day was rather cloudy, so the children decided to eat in the classroom and have a game of prisoner's base afterwards. Sometimes on the very springlike days they ate their lunches on the porch of the schoolhouse.

"What have you got today?" asked Katharine.

"I've got lettuce sandwiches for one thing," said Letty.

For many and many a time the children exchanged goodies, and so had a fine assortment of delicacies for lunch.

But what should they hear, when they had only just started on their first nibble, but a queer low rumbling noise.

"What can that be?" they asked each other, and then the noise sounded like a soft growl and a queer grunt.

"No one is answering us—that is in a language we can't understand," said one little girl.

"It sounds to me like a bear," said one boy, who said he was the bravest boy in school.

"Oh, nonsense," said another.

"I wouldn't mind," said the first boy.

"Oh, yes, you would," the others answered.

And before they had time to say anything more, standing at the front door of the schoolroom was a big black bear—he wasn't really such a very big fellow—but how big the children thought he was!

"Oh, oh, hurry, hurry, run, run," they all cried.

And along with the others ran the boy who had said he would not mind if a bear did come in. But the others hadn't time to tease him about it then—at least they didn't think about anything but getting out of the way.

"Oh, wasn't it dreadful?" were the first words they said when they were safe in a big barn down the road.

But in the meantime the bear was having the time of his life.

"Well, well, well," he growled softly, "I will have a fine tale to tell the other animals when I get home again."

IF
HAIR'S YOUR PRIDE
USE HERPICIDE
THAT air of refinement, that illusive charm which beautiful hair gives is now within the reach of every woman.

If you have longed for a preparation that would actually stop falling hair, rid your scalp of dandruff and transform unsightly and unruly hair into lustrous beautiful tresses, you will certainly find it in

Newbro's Herpicide

Even the sensation of the first application will absolutely convince you. Herpicide is an indispensable requisite of every household where personal pride and cleanliness reign. Herpicide stops that annoying itching of the scalp, strengthens the hair roots and promotes health, vigor and luster of the hair undreamed of before.

MEN: If your face smartens after shaving—apply a little Herpicide while your face is wet. Just try it. Tell your barber about it.

Herpicide for Mother, Father, Sister and the Boys.

CAUTION: The high tax on alcohol, due to war, has caused a flood of watery hair dressings that keep the hair damp and sticky and chill the scalp by slow evaporation. The stimulating and antiseptic action of alcohol is absolutely necessary and Newbro's Herpicide (containing 40 per cent alcohol) will be kept up to the standard regardless of the cost.

Do not delay, buy a bottle TODAY.

IN DEFENCE OF THE PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS

Pastor Schroeder Declares that the German Lutheran Children Are Taught Loyalty to American Institutions and German is Taught Only as a Language.

Public attention has been drawn to the Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church on Livingston street, by the report of the pastor, the Rev. Frederick T. Schroeder made at the W. S. S. meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday night in which the astute clergyman explained how he had introduced in Kingston a most ingenious way of raising funds for building after the war, by voluntarily pushing the War Savings Stamp drive with the young people in his own church.

The plan had been a large success. He had got the idea from an Albany church which netted in War Savings Stamps by a church drive $18,000. "The plan met with the approval of our war building committee," said Mr. Schroeder in speaking of it afterward, "and we got enthusiastic responses. The city was already distracted in which the young people of our church were experienced in collecting funds for our church work so that they knew just where to go and had worked together in teams of two. They are acquainted with all whom they had to see and they were enthusiastically supported both by our church societies and individual members who invested liberally in the stamps. It was a great saving of time. Permanent organization of that sort for raising funds for all church purposes gives efficiency and insures one hundred per cent returns. Frequent occasions arise for soliciting funds among church people.

"There are also demands for our synod and for foreign needs of the church, missions, etc. We have the largest Evangelical Lutheran synod in the United States, the Missouri Synod, to which our church belongs. Its needs are many and our own church always responds cheerfully and makes a good showing. This is not what is called a wealthy church. We have only 400 communicants. Some of our members have been worshipping in the church since it was founded. Those who I can recall are Frank Gronemeyer on Brewster street and Fred Weideman, Sr., on Mary's street.

"This society was founded and the church built in 1870. Until seven years ago there was no change in the structure. At that time the old pulpit gave place to a handsome altar and new pulpit, a place being made for them by changing the line of the wall and providing for the vestry. The interior was handsomely decorated. The church has a fine large pipe organ.

The parochial school has an attendance of 75 young children. The teachers are H. M. Demgen, who has been there thirty-four years and E. E. Eames. "We are sadly in need of more room for the school and modern conveniences for assemblies, for social events and for instruction in physical culture," said Mr. Schroeder. "Of course the plans for the new building are not even thought out. There is plenty of time when we know we can begin work on it."

The pastor preaches Sunday mornings in German and evenings in English. There are many of his congregation who have never worshipped except in German and it would be a serious matter to the church if the pastor was required to preach exclusively in English.

He has no doubt that in course of time as the old Germans who brought their language church and home customs to this country pass away the use of all other than the English language will die out.

The Rev. Mr. Schroeder believes fully that foreign languages in this country disappear with the third and fourth generations of foreign speaking citizens. The Norwegian and Swedes usually lose their old country language, as he calls it, in two generations he says. Speaking of the parochial schools he regards them as not in any way inimical to loyal citizenship. He refers to the oft repeated remark that the parochial schools do not participate in public funds and that they are the means of religious rather than secular instruction, for they keep in the minds of the pupils their church connections and train them to uphold the faith in which the children are born and raised. Without the parochial schools, the churches would gradually lose their strength in numbers and their influence. Parochial schools are the upholders of the churches. To Mr. Schroeder there does not appear any reason to object to them in a free country in which church and state are separated.

"The teachings in our own schools (the Lutheran parochial) are only partly in German. The most important branch of instruction, arithmetic, is taught from English text books. It would be silly to provide those text books in any language other than English in this country, an English speaking nation. I have often heard it said that our German text books have the name of the Kaiser in them. This is not so. Nowhere is he mentioned. Most of our children learn to talk German, it is true, but the course of German we use is the same as German in the high school course. With us it is taught only as a language and for little practical use except where business needs call for it. In comparatively a few cases does it take the place of the English." He referred to a booklet published in the interest of evangelical Lutheranism which he said he wished that those who doubted the spirit of the parochial schools would read. This absolutely refutes the charge of pro-Germanism made against the German Lutherans. It repudiates Kaiserism in every form. It shows that the teachers in the Lutheran parochial schools are without exception American citizens and that 98 per cent are born in this country. They do not foster the love for the German government, or for German institutions. There are very few schools in the Missouri synod which do not employ the English language as the medium of instruction in all common school branches. "Our course of study conforms to the state syllabus. We have eight grades. Our own school has permission from the state department of education to conduct the regents here. It is estimated that in our branch of the synod there are a million souls and statisticians tell us they own twenty-five millions liberty bonds.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JUNE 29, 1918.

SWORDS INTO PLOWSHARES.

A league of nations to put an end to war is an idea 2500 years old, according to Judge Sulzberger of Philadelphia, who, in an interview on his seventy-fifth birthday recently, quoted as follows from the Hebrew prophet Isaiah: "And He shall judge among the nations and shall rebuke many people; and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning-hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more." As Judge Sulzberger is a Jew and the Jews, relatively speaking, are literalists, this would tend to explain a view different from that ordinarily taken by Christians who have not seen in this Scriptural passage any prediction of a league of nations to prevent war such as has of late been proposed.

The Christian idea, in harmony with the general interpretation of the Old Testament in the light of the utterances of the New, has been that this passage from Isaiah refers to the coming of a millennium, or spiritual regeneration of mankind, after which evil impulses will be quiescent and the world will have peace under the reign of good will; that war will end by common and voluntary consent, not at the command of a powerful league of nations. The reflecting mind, indeed, can see only in such improved moral conditions the world's safeguard from war to any full extent, for there is no telling when great nations leagued to prevent war may seriously quarrel with each other.

BLAMING IT ON THE DOG STAR.

Last winter was an unusually hard one throughout the country and, so far, the summer has been phenomenally cool in our Northern States. This recalls a prediction several years old that from about 1914 to 1926 the earth's minimum daily temperature records would again reach unusually low marks, a similar condition to that recorded about a half century ago. If such periodical reductions in the normal yearly temperature are due, what is the cause? A correspondent of the New York Sun finds it in Sirius, that great central sun, the so-called dog star now to be seen in the western sky after sunset, around which our own comparatively insignificant sun revolves with its planets. We read:

If Sirius could suddenly go out of existence the temperature would lower and our solar system would collapse like a drop of water collapsing into a lake of snow, then it would fall to a perihelion toward another star or giant sun in the far away distance. This apparently insignificant Dog Star has already tilted over two of our giant planets, Neptune and Uranus, and Jupiter's feet are now slipping out from under him, as the south pole of Jupiter, now close to turn in toward the sun at perihelion, and is carried on a tangent toward its secondary perihelion ahead, or toward its perihelion with reference to Sirius. Dog like, Sirius has a companion, they call it the companion of Sirius, a small, very close to Sirius and running around that giant sun once every fifty years. As it advances toward us—in moving around Sirius, whose axial position is somewhat like Saturn's—the little companion forces our earth and solar system outward a little from Sirius, thus lowering the general temperature of the solar system for a while, adding some new spots on the sun and bringing back to the earth again some of the cold spells of weather such as we had in the '70s.

This explanation will hardly be regarded as either very clear or satisfactory by the reader who has forgotten most of what he once learned of the awe-inspiring science of astronomy. He may be reminded, however, that Sirius is important enough to exercise a very wide influence and that anything unusual within its immediate sphere is a sufficient disturbance to produce the unusual millions of miles away. For astronomers tell us that Sirius, though the brightest of the stars of the first magnitude and thus in appearance relatively near, is 1,375,000 times as far away from us as the sun of our own solar system and to traverse the distance light requires 22 years travelling at the rate of 186,000 miles a second. Thus the Sirius that we now see is the Sirius of 1896, the rays of light reaching our eyes having begun their journey in that year. Obviously this giant sun, of which our own sun is but a puny satellite, is an ocean of fire inconceivably enormous. The figures take one's very breath away, and furnish a startling reminder of the vanity and relative insignificance of all the things of this little earth of ours.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"Lucky in love; unlucky at cards." "I get you. You hold the small hands in both cases."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"The motorist upset his car to save a little girl." "Oh, well," said the cynic, "maybe it was a last year's car."—Buffalo Express.

"Those are pretty looking trees over there. Are they deciduous?" "Indeed, they're not. They're the healthiest sort we've got on the place."—Baltimore American.

Judge: "What's your occupation?" Vagrant: "Oh, nothing much, your Honor; just circulating round." Judge: "Retired from circulation for thirty days."—Boston Transcript.

"After you are gone they may set up a statue of you." "Don't suggest it," replied Senator Sorghum. "I've been looking the statuary over, and I don't want any. It's bad enough to be cartooned while you are alive."—Washington Star.

The Wrong Process.

A colored Baptist was exhorting. "Now, brethren and sisters, come up to de altar and have yo' sins washed away." All came up but ne man. "Why, Brudder Jones, don't 'yo' want yo' sins washed away?" "I done had my sins washed away."

"Yo' has? Where yo' had yo' sins washed away?" "Ober at the Methodist Church."

"Ah, Brudder Jones, yo' ain't been washed; yo' jes' been dy cleaned."—San Francisco Argonaut.

Peekholes.

Any woman who does tattling knows what a "peek" is (this is for information of mere men), and that the word is pronounced "peek-o."

It is the pronunciation that caused a mistake made by a little girl in a southside home a few days ago.

This little miss listened to her mother and a neighbor talking about dresses.

After a time she respectfully inquired: "Mrs. Umum, has your new waist got as many peekholes as mamma's?"—Youngstown Ohio Telegram.

Knew the Location.

Three-year-old Sydney had the measles, and was a real sick little boy. His anxious grandmother bent over him and asked sympathetically: "Can't you tell grandmamma where you feel bad?"

"Without a moment's hesitation little Sydney answered: "Wright here in bed."—Indianapolis News.

Something Like That.

A boy in a recent examination in scripture was asked where Cain went after he killed Abel. He replied that he went to bed. The teacher wanted to know how he made that out. He said:

"It's in the chapter, sir, that Cain, after he had killed Abel, went to the land of Nod."—Christian Herald.

FRED FINDS SOME D-N GOOD BRUSHES

Sergeant Says So When Asked About Kingston Product Found in France—"Grenades" That Were Not Loaded at Port Ewen.

Camp de Souge, France, June 8.—I had just finished a letter to you Sunday when I went up to the office to see about some work and the lieutenant told me there was a letter in the post office for me. I was registered so I had to go myself. I was busy and so just added a postscript to the effect that I had the letter O. K. Now I am sure that it was very nice of you to send that to me, but you see I really don't need any more. I quite agree with you that it would be foolish not to take advantage of the present opportunity of seeing all that there is to see, but you see it is this way, we got very little time to ourselves and are only allowed to be away from the post from noon until 10:30 at night, although I have had permission once or twice, through the kindness of our officer, to stop over night in town. So with this limited permission you see it is not possible to get very far from home and as our passes limit us to certain hours and certain towns it is little we can do. Just now even the ten day leave is suspended where railroad travel is involved and even though I, like many others, have been over here long enough to get it we must wait until more favorable opportunity offers.

Now the amount of it is you need not worry about me not getting along. Of course we don't draw any great sum as you know but I guess I can get along at that. I want to be able to say I got through without drawing on the reserves. I want to be able to spike the guns of those people who are always harping that it is impossible to get along on what Uncle Sam pays you. There are people who have to live on their army pay and I guess I can. Of course the allotment will always continue to run, but soon my bonds will be paid for and then I will be getting on fine.

Sunday I went down town to Bordeaux, and as it was a terribly hot day I went to the Y. M. C. A. to cool off and happened to look through the Y. M. C. A. register and found the name of one of the Conway boys, which had been placed there within two weeks, and on about the 21st of April I found that James B. Loughran had also paid our fair city visit you know.

Jim Loughran, Prof. Loughran's brother, Well, there was the old address, 24 John street. I have forgotten the name of the ship he is on. He is in the Naval Reserve. I found his name had been registered twice, one some time before April 21. Just to let the world know that there were some more from Kingston, I also registered.

Now, while I am talking, or rather writing, about the old town, I may as well tell you the rest. I walked down through one of the store rooms this morning, and for some unknown reason, a new bunch of horse brushes attracted my attention. They had just come in.

Well, I went over and looked them over and underneath the strap was the name, Herbert Brush Company. So, just to see what an expert thought of them, I said to the sergeant, who is the storekeeper, "How are those new brushes?" and he said, "They are a d—d sight better than the last lot I had." And then I told him who made them. It pays to advertise.

It was so hot Sunday when I was down town, I just took a little walk and then sat out on the balcony of the "Y" under the awning until about 6 o'clock, when it began to get cooler. The days over here, with the daylight saving plan, are sure great. At 9 o'clock I was still sitting out there reading the evening paper and at 9:30 the street lights were just lighted. At 10 o'clock, when we started for the truck for the return trip, it was hardly more than dark, so you see we are having some pretty nice weather. For the past week it has not rained, and it has been hotter than the dense out there in the sand. It looks to me as though before the summer is over we are going to wish for khaki clothes, and I hardly think they will be issued, perhaps they may be later though.

The other night after work we decided to pass away an evening fishing. So I took a truck to a pond near camp about five miles from here with the usual luck. One of the boys caught a fish about 4 inches long. They say there are fish in the pond, and I am not doubting their word, but one sure thing, they know enough to stay in the pond. You know if you catch one thing, you always can do another. We were found that there were no fish to be had, we went for a swim, the first of the season. The water sure was great, nice and warm, and about twenty feet deep. It seems good to be able to cool off after these hot days and once the boys find out about these ponds they will be pretty popular.

In your letter of May 4th you say the currants are in full bloom and the catalpa tree is beginning to leaf out. It seems here as if the summer is half over, for it has been summer-like so long. Way back in April gardens were up and growing.

So Lieut. Saunders is again back in the machine gun or "suicide" squad. It may be that at last he may be getting a chance to come over soon. He was so anxious, and you remember how he joked with me about meeting me in Berlin or at least France. That was quite a long time ago, and I was still a civilian and a regular soldier, still I have been over here quite a time already. My parting remark was that I would meet him in France, and I guess he rather doubted me at the time, but here I am waiting to meet him, and I judge he is a little late at keeping his end of the appointment. I sure would like to run across him some day down town. Wouldn't it be great to see a regular fellow from your own place. By the way, do you remember the last time I was home, and for a parting shot I told you I would see you after the war was over. Didn't believe me then, and to tell the truth I thought I would be up again myself, for I had a hunch we would not be sailing for a couple more weeks, but that was once my hunch went back on me.

So you think O'Ryan's Division is by now over here. Well, the boys sure have been patient waiters all right; disappointed on the Mexican border stuff, held for ages in the states while boys from all around went, or rather came over. I don't blame them for getting a bit tired. I know how one month of that uncertainty at Port Jay made me feel.

I have not had chance to find out much about the cost or manner of renting money home, having had no use so far for such a thing. But I must say that the fellow who was stung for $9 to send $40 home, sure picked out the most expensive way he could. The best way is to ask the Y. M. C. A. In fact, anything you don't know, ask "Y" and if they don't know they will find out. The "Y" will send money home for the boys gratis; that is all I know, but will try and find out something more, for I suppose there are a lot of people who think this is a barren desert over here and a little more country from the Spanish border to the trenches, with no modern or up-to-date businesses or methods of doing business.

So the new concern at Port Ewen is to be a grenade loading plant. I can say I know what it is, thanks to my experience over here, and there are a large one nearby. Of course, like you, I don't go out mornings before breakfast and load grenades, but I have an idea what the new plant will be. Speaking of grenades, think some more of those war stories will be told. We had a good one sprung a few days ago. There were several carloads of boxes which came up from the station, all marked "hand grenades."

Well, they were checked in and stored in a wash house a few feet from the barracks and the next day the sergeant went out and saw them. He came dashing back, and pretty much excited said those "d—d boxes were hand grenades and must be moved from there. Why the—things were Ordnance property and they couldn't take them. It was not safe to have a thousand hand grenades stacked up there, right under the noses of the boys. Well, just about that time I discovered we were receiving a lot of fire extinguishers, so said nothing and let him rave. I knew the old salt water hand grenades of old. Well, he sure was a cheap fellow when he found out what they were. Later, one of the officers pulled the same stunt about Ordnance property.

The Nitro works are working on T. N. T. Have they given up the dynamite entirely? I suppose De Witt Co. is making a large map. I see Sergeant Murray in charge of the new ship yard detectives, too.

So G. B. Hines is over at Pailleur. I know about the town. I often see fellows from over there in town and will keep a lookout for Hines. Well, his job may be a little tempted to try for such a thing, for the fellows are getting some trips out of it. His drive down with cars is a common thing. Why, all cars are assembled at the port and run to their destination.

You are right, the pine trees were planted here years ago to hold the sand in place. I think I said that in one of my other letters. We are between the river Gironde and the sea, on that sand strip that runs from the river down toward the Spanish frontier, and I should say that we are from fifteen to perhaps thirty miles inland. Look up St. Medard on a large map. It may be on there, for it is a fairly large burgh. I have seen all of the churches you mention and also many others. There is a booklet of about two dozen postcards of the city, and I went through it last night and found I had seen every street, place and building which was represented in it. I will see if one of these booklets can be sent. It may be of interest to you to see photos of what we are actually seeing every day. Everything is of stone over here and some of the buildings are very pretty. Last winter I was going to town every day, there was very little of the city of Bordeaux that I did not visit, at some time or other.

How is Mr. Rodie making out with his drills? Do the boys turn out as well as they did at first or better? I should think they would come out pretty strong now, for they must by now begin to realize that it is a good thing, and the more a person knows the better his chances are of coming back.

I don't blame you for getting entangled over the two Canadians. The stuff you hear of the fighting ability of the Canadians is strictly true. There is not a finer specimen of fighting man than these neighbors of ours. I have seen quite a few and they all have the dash and life of the American with the fighting ability of the French.

I only hope the Americans can do as well as the Canadians have, for with our numbers it will sure tell the tale. You sure have to hand it to the French, too. They are sure quite enthusiastic over our boys as well as the Canadians. One thing they can't understand is our vim and speed. You Americans are always in a hurry.

So Bill Gardner has enlisted and gone to Washington. Well, with his ability he probably will land non-com and I should not be surprised to hear of him being promoted in the states for a long time and probably working at his trade.

You need not worry over towels, handkerchiefs and such things, for we can get all such things over here. This is not a barren desert. You can buy almost anything if you have the price in excess of food stuffs. Certain things in the food line are prohibited and are not even made, but of course some things are very high. Then of course military necessities, like gasolene, etc., are dealt out by the spoon and you are asked for your allowance is gone you are finished. Wood is worth its weight in gold and all over the country the little brush is cut and tied up in bundles to burn. Pie, cake, etc., are prohibited, and bread, you know, is limited, but there are so many other substitutes that we get all we could desire.

You people over in the states think it is quite smart to eat war bread, and it is good thing you do. I know when I first hit here we had French War Bread for some time until a bakery unit came out here. At first I liked it, then I got to be indifferent and finally a begun to hate it. The stuff is so heavy and stays with you so long. I think I still have some of it left in my stomach from those first few weeks last winter. But when I go down town now I can get a meal with it and rather enjoy it again. It has a peculiar sweet taste and really, in small quantities, goes well. But you get tired of it I guess. We now have some of the finest white bread you ever tasted, baked in a great big bakery here in camp. It doesn't taste like the doctored up baker's bread in the states, but is real pure food law bread and "just like mother used to make."

I was just over to the commissary and they had in a few more boxes of candy. Every once in a while we get some real American chocolates. I made a raise, so I guess we eat candy. They had some a few days ago, but I was just about 10 minutes too late to get any. You see I had to wait until I got my pay and H comes quite a way down the line. FRED.

ADDITIONAL CALLS IN THE SERVICE OF OUR COUNTRY FOR MECHANICS

Another Opportunity for Grammar School Graduates With Mechanical Experience to Get Training in Government Schools.

Local boards for Divisions 1 and 2 of Ulster county received today from the adjutant's office a bulletin giving the particulars of Special Call Nos. 824 and 825. The bulletin stated that the inductions under the last call of this sort "fell flat" and that it was necessary to draft more than three-quarters of the men. Attention is called to the fact that the high rate of pay and the demands for experts in various mechanical lines is common knowledge, and by entering one of these classes a man not only renders to his country the duty which he owes it, but also better fits himself for employment after Berlin is captured.

Under Call 824, the men will be sent to South Bethlehem, Pa., to Lehigh University, for instructions as battery mechanics, carpenters, cooks, concrete workers, electricians, road constructors, telegraphers and track constructors.

Under Call 825, the men will be sent to Oswego board of education to receive instructions as mechanics named in preceding paragraph, and also as bench-workmen, blacksmiths, gas engine men and sheet metal workers.

Grammar school graduates with mechanical experience (white men in Class 1 physically qualified for general military experience) are eligible under these calls. The men selected will receive a course of training at government expense fitting them to serve in army positions both at the front and behind the lines. They will be assigned during the course to that kind of mechanical training for which the greatest need exists at the time of the call. At the end of the course they will be assigned to various branches of the service in accordance with the needs of the army. They are to receive no assurance of an assignment to any particular branch of the service.

Each man must carry with him at least two suits of underclothing, one suit of outer clothing in good condition, a sweater, a stout pair of shoes, three extra pairs of socks and two bath towels as he will be kept in civilian clothing during the first three weeks until he can be supplied with a uniform and other clothing.

The period for voluntary enlistment under these calls closes July 5, and if enough men have not volunteered by that time to fill the number wanted, the various local boards of this state will be assigned a quota and the balance of the men needed will be drafted.

Those who wish to volunteer under these calls should apply to the officials of their local board.

There was a very large gathering of interested women of the church, and also some friends of members were present. Never before perhaps was there such generous giving, especially for war work in various forms. Such appeals are always effective. The societies were proud, and well they might be, of the gifts that were forthcoming. The next meeting will not be held until September, which will be the annual meeting.

SERVICE FLAG AT ST. JOSEPH'S

Tomorrow afternoon at 2:30, a service flag in honor of the men of St. Joseph's parish, who have answered the call to the colors, will be raised.

The oration of the day will be given by the Right Rev. John C. Chidwick, president of St. Joseph's Seminary, Dunwoodie. Monsignor Chidwick is an ex-nary chaplain and was the chaplain on the U. S. battleship Maine, when that vessel was destroyed in the harbor of Havana.

Monsignor Chidwick has a national reputation as a most powerful speaker.

Co. M. First Infantry, N. Y. G., under Captain Everett Fowler, will attend the ceremony. Program of the ceremony:

Cross bearer and acolytes; Co. M.; school children bearing flag; members of the Holy Name Society; sanctuary boys; reverend clergy.

In the church:

Presentation of Flag—V. A. German Acceptance—Rev. Father Braddy Reading of Names of Men in the Service.

Oration—Rt. Rev. John P. Chidwick Blessing of Flag.

Unfurling of Flag on Front of Church.

Solemn Benediction.

All are welcome.

BOYS ENJOY LIFE AT CAMP ANAWANA

The boys who left Kingston the other day for Camp Anawana at Highland are enjoying life according to word received from them at the local Y. M. C. A. The camp is in charge of Boys' Work Director S. P. Hines and the boys from the city who are in camp are: L. Rosenthal, Tom Rowland, store keeper; James Hills, Eric Brown, Faranacci Corregan, Robert Corregan, Ray Willmott, Chris Messenger, who is postman; Floyd Winne, Walter Colsten, Charles Rhind, Amos McCreery, Elbert Carey, Arthur Thompson, assistant store keeper; Paul Gregory, Max Oppenheimer, Adelbert Kullmann, Kenneth Ivory, Alex McKeown, Richard Dickson, Ray Constant, Harold Ellsworth and William New, who presides as cook.

Mail has been received in this city from Bugler and Signalman Alfred Baum from England, saying all the boys of Co. L, 310th Infantry and himself had a wonderful trip across and the ship in which they sailed had the pleasure of putting one U-boat to rest at the bottom of the ocean, which added greatly to their happiness. Mr. Baum's friends may write to him at the above address, adding A. E. F. Via New York.

Arthur T. Meserou, who is a member of the Headquarters Company, 56th Artillery, C. A. C. A. E. F., now doing duty in France, has been promoted to the rank of sergeant.

Henry W. Bartsch, 25 Van Deusen street, has been accepted for the United States Naval Reserves as landsman electrician radio, according to a telephone received at The Freeman office. He is assigned to Pelham Bay and will leave the city shortly.

John B. Rafferty lost an envelope today addressed to the Security Insurance Co., New Haven. It contained money and should be returned to Mr. Rafferty, at No. 44 Main street.

ODDS AND ENDS.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Peter M. Deering died of a complication of diseases at his home in Palenville on Thursday, aged 57 years. He is survived by three sisters and two brothers. The funeral will be held at his late residence on Sunday, June 30, at 2 p. m. Interment will be in Palenville cemetery.

New Time Tables.

The summer schedule will go into effect Sunday on the railroads and will be about the same as last summer.

Crime and Dreaming.

Murders seldom dream, which is exactly contrary to the idea that a man with a crime on his mind would usually have bad nightmares. Of 125 murders carefully watched and examined, 98 seldom or never dreamed at all. The greater the criminal the less he dreamed.

AMERICA CALLS BIG BUSINESS CHIEFS TO FIGHT BEHIND FRONT TRENCHES

Fired with Patriotism

Great Increase in Post Exchange Service of Y. M. C. A. for Soldiers in France Requires Genius of Nation's Best Executives.

A DISTRIBUTING organization of a tremendous business organization to buy, transport, distribute and sell to American boys the things they wanted. A tremendous business organization, yes, but one in which the executives serve without pay, an organization which takes no profits, but which, in its swift, competent mastering of the situation, has shown the European peoples how American business ability functions supremely without the incentive of money profits.

WORK FOR BUSINESS MEN.

This explains why, following the flag, American Big Business went to France with the Red Triangle as its trade mark and sign, with service as its object. Because it has made good overwhelmingly, that Red Triangle is the magnet which draws every American soldier overseas.

One has to concede it is a big business organization which operates and keeps supplied six hundred Post Exchanges with the American Expeditionary Forces.

These sounds strange, but is no more paradoxical than the statement that this great distributing business, this widespread selling organization with its certainty of a $75,000,000 turnover this coming year has no profits—in money, at least.

The organization in question is the General Supply Division of the Y. M. C. A. War Work Council with the American Expeditionary Forces.

THE GREAT ORGANIZATION.

A brief explanation of what this organization is and of the multitudinous activities of the Y. M. C. A. in the war zone is necessary here. Many people in this country believe the Association's work in France consists of doing religious or social religious work, holding prayer meetings, handing out testaments and providing lectures. As a matter of fact, these features comprise only a fraction of the vast activities of the organization. And this article is to deal with only one phase of the service to the American soldiers in France assumed by the Y. M. C. A.—suddenly, unexpectedly, unthought, but not shirked.

When the Y. M. C. A. accompanied the first American Expeditionary Forces to France locating its "caterpillar" in every camp, the American military command asked the organization to establish and to conduct Post Exchanges in the huts where the soldier could buy small comforts he enjoyed at home, candy, gum, tobacco, cigarettes, tea or cocoa, sweet crackers, toilet accessories and the like. The reason the military authorities requested a civilian organization to take over this task was that at only a few points were the Army Quartermaster's stores, while the "Y" had huts everywhere.

This was an unfamiliar sphere for the Y. M. C. A. Such work was far removed from its customary activities. But it was an opportunity to be of greatest service to the American soldiers, to minister to their normal physical needs. The answer to the Army was a hearty acceptance. And this was followed promptly by the formation of a tremendous business organization to buy, transport, distribute and sell to American boys the things they wanted.

Dr. E. C. Carter, General Secretary of Y. M. C. A. War Work Overseas, is the director of all the organization's activities in France. To organize the activities having to do with the Post Exchange features, from top to bottom, he called in American business executives. One of these men vitally responsible for the success of the organization, Harold D. Sheets, president of the Vacuum Oil company of France, Spain and Switzerland, was in New York last week. Asked "What can a big business man do to be of service to the soldiers?" he told of the organization and scope of the General Supply Division.

BIG EXECUTIVES DEMANDED.

"The demand for executives in this work to serve the American soldier overseas was never great," said he. "There is a great demand for executives to go out into the big camps, sort of branch managers, you might say. These various huts radiate from these big camp centres, which in turn radiate from Paris headquarters. In each central but there is needed a business man, a construction expert, an automobile expert, a motion picture expert and an expert in electrical problems.

"She Stoops to Conquer." There is no approach to uniformity in the terms of the governors of different states of the Union. The governors of two states are elected for one year; those of twenty-one states for two years; the governor of New Jersey for three years, and those of twenty-four states for four years.

Terms of Governors.

There is no approach to uniformity in the terms of the governors of different states of the Union. The governors of two states are elected for one year; those of twenty-one states for two years; the governor of New Jersey for three years, and those of twenty-four states for four years.

Needs Trained Muscles.

The capacity to exert will power, to make firm resolutions, to decide and to judge propositions accurately on their merits calls for well-cultivated and trained muscles. A flabby-muscled man is apt to be a weak-willed one. Dr. Leonard Hirschberg.

Under Control.

Willis "Bump" says he lost control of his car yesterday. "Gillis—That's right. The sheriff has it now," Judge.

Made Him Devout Christian.

Gen. Lew Wallace said that before writing "Ben Hur" he had no fixed religious convictions, but as the story grew and the whole life was affected by it and when the work was completed he found himself for the first time in his life a devout Christian.

Tilling the Soil.

No race can prosper till it learns that there is as much dignity in tilling a field as in writing a poem. It is at the bottom of life we must begin, and not at the top. Nor should we permit our grievances to overshadow our opportunities.—Booker T. Washington.

It is a big business that is done through the Post Exchanges, although they are comparable only to five and ten cent stores. The business done since this work was taken up will reach $20,000,000, and careful estimates show that the annual turnover will be between $50,000,000 and $75,000,000, probably more, based on the number of American troops announced for France by midsummer.

The American soldier craves the edible and smokes which were his favorites at home. This need is particularly strong because all the confectionery and pastry stores of France are closed, and because no American tobacco is sold in France, and there is a shortage of French tobacco.

Possibly a few figures will suggest strikingly the size of the monthly business done by this organization. It requires a thousand tons of bar chocolate, 1,500 tons of crackers, similar quantities of candy, and fruit, and 500,000 cans of jam, while the demand for tobacco is estimated at 4,500,000 cigars and 20,000,000 cigarettes a month, with 3,000,000 boxes of matches required for lights. Oceans of hot cocoa, coffee and tea cross the hut counters, together with sandwiches, among which the Coney Island "red hot" is a favorite.

These wares are sold at wholesale prices, plus transportation, and insurance. No store rental or clerk hire is charged against the Post Exchange. Any margin is devoted to the free distribution of hot drinks in front line trenches.

NO PROFIT FOR Y. M. C. A.

"I want to emphasize the fact that no profit is taken from these sales," said Mr. Sheets. "We learn that stories have filtered back here to the effect that the Y. M. C. A. is profiteering in this line. That is absolutely untrue. The reports probably have their origin in the fact that the prices of certain articles sold in the huts are higher than they are in the cheaper shops here. The explanation of this is very simple.

"Lack of transportation is the answer. For the transportation of but supplies to France we estimated we required monthly 208 ocean tons for each division. We have been able to get only half of that from the government, owing to the necessity of allotting practically all cargo space to positive necessities. In order to make up the estimated 208 tons a division a month we had to buy on the Continent or seek tonnage in the open market, at prohibitive rates.

"To obviate the necessity of ocean transportation of a principal sales commodity, the 'Y' practically maintains three chocolate factories in France, but the sugar has to be sent from America. The organization leased five large hotels in Paris for the accommodation of American soldiers there, two hotels and a cafe in the city where is located the American headquarters line of communication, and a big restaurant with rest and reading rooms at Bordeaux.

When Air les Bains was selected as the rest place for American soldiers on leave, the 'Y' persuaded the hotel owners of that place to open their establishments in winter and to fix a low rate.

This business branch of the Y. M. C. A. which was organized to introduce American business efficiency into the war zone, the General Supply Division, consists of the purchasing department, construction department, building, equipment department, post exchange department, motor transportation department and the canteen and cafes department.

COST OF THE HUTS.

The purchasing department supplies in France, Switzerland. The construction department erects the 'Y' huts, no permanent building can be erected. These huts are of types, the single hut being 30 feet, costing 60,000 francs, the double hut to erect costs 90,000 francs, being 150 by 90 feet base. Where these cannot be erected double canvas-walled tents are put up. Aside from these the 'Y' but may be a dug-out in a trench or a section of a chateau, anywhere to be among the soldiers.

The building equipment department attends to the lighting, heating and decoration of huts and the supplying of kitchen utensils. The post exchange department consists of the hut secretaries, many of whom serve without pay while the others are paid their living expenses. The motor transportation department, with its more than 200 camions transports supplies, building material and entertainers from point to point. The hotels and cafes department conducts the vast hotel and restaurant work.

The department heads form a board of management which meets daily for conferring on the work and coordinating it. The chairman of this body sits on the executive committee of the War Work Council in France, which decides the policies, expenditures, budgets, etc. The financial end is handled by two departments, the treasurer's and the comptroller's.

The comptrollers who have charge of the accounting, are Price, Waterhouse and Company. The budget of each department must have the approval of the heads of other departments, while the final complete budget must be approved by the executive committee.

This compact, comprehensive organization, modelled along lines of a great corporation, explains the successful operation of the store feature suddenly added to the Y. M. C. A. activities. It is the force behind the continuous supplying to the American soldier, far from home, the little creature comforts which suggest home to them, which contribute to keeping them contented and away from dispiriting powerful aids to the morale of an army. Without profit, and conducted on the lines of highest efficiency, this remarkable organization is serving our soldiers as never before an army was served.

Big business men are truly, call to organize this enterprise, from the wealth of their country, but that it serves the present army, enormous force must grow contentedly until the Hun must grow in the Y. M. C. A. force must grow in proportion.

Digging.

It is seldom that men discover rich mines without digging. Nature commonly lodges her treasures and jewels in rock ground. If the matter be not knotty and the sense lie deep, they must stop and buckle to it, and stick to it with labor and thought and upon it they have mastered the difficulty and got possession of the truth.—Locke.

In the Crush.

"I hugged a girl rather tightly the other night and crushed some important cigarettes." "Yours or hers?"

MEN WHO WILL
ENTRAIN MONDAY

Twenty-seven to Leave For Special Course of Mechanical Training in Government Schools.

Local boards of Divisions 1 and 2 of Ulster county will furnish a total of 27 men, under the special calls, to entrain from Kingston Monday morning. Division 1 will furnish 13 men and Division 2 will furnish 8 men under call 737 to go to Buffalo Technical High School. The other men are to be sent to the following places: 3 to Troy, 1 to Jersey City, 1 to Yonkers, 1 to New York City. These men are all white men, grammar school graduates with some mechanical experience, and class 1 men qualified for general military service.

Owing to the short notice and the large territory embraced in Division 2, the local board for this division had to draft the men, taking them eligible for the occupations listed under the call. The men were drafted in the sequence of their order numbers.

There will be no parade Monday morning, as has been the custom when the other conscripts entrained. Owners of automobiles are asked to donate their cars to convey the men to the West Shore station. Those willing to donate their cars are asked to notify the draft boards today or tomorrow. Telephone 1163-J.

All the men to entrain Monday are to report Sunday afternoon at the office of Board 1 in the surrogate's office to be inducted into the service and receive their comfort kits and Red Cross supplies.

The men going to Buffalo will leave on the 11:05 a. m. West Shore train. The man assigned to Yonkers will leave on this train. The men going to New York and New Jersey will leave on the 1:10 p. m. West Shore train. The men assigned to Yonkers will go by the way of the New York Central, leaving here on the 10:33 ferry.

The following are to entrain under call 737 for Buffalo.

Division 2 Men.
1111-1758—Edward C. Osterhout, Saugerties, R. R. 4.
1055-409—Paul Sepsey, High Falls.

Silver Jubilee of Father Bamberg.
The Rev. Theodore Bamberg, rector of St. Andrew's parish in Ellenville, who celebrates his silver jubilee in the priesthood Monday, has sent to many Kingston friends handsomely engraved cards with attractive souvenir enclosures. He began his priesthood in Louvain, Belgium, the city that has been devastated with sword and shell by the Germans, and was afterwards located in Dusseldorf, Germany. This clergyman has often appeared in church functions in Kingston and has a wide acquaintance with Kingston people.

No Early Morning Boat.
Owing to scarcity of coal the Hudson River Day Line will not run an early morning boat from Kingston to New York this season.

Carboy in Chemical Machine Broke

Burning Five at Arlington.

Three members of the Arlington Fire Department and two boy spectators were severely burned by sulphuric acid during a fire Friday which destroyed the home of Mrs. Mary Myers, opposite the driving park in Southeast avenue, Arlington, causing loss of $7,000. The Arlington company was just preparing to return to their quarters when an explosion caused by the breaking of a carboy in their chemical machine scattered the acid over the men and by-standers.

Newburgh Murderess Dead.

Lizzie Halliday, arch-murderess, with three women and a man as her victims, died Thursday night in the Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminal Insane, from chronic Bright's disease. This is written the last chapter of the story of a Borgia, a woman of mystery, who killed apparently from sheer lust of killing. Her Newburgh victims were Mrs. Margaret McQuillan and her daughter, Sarah, both of whom Mrs. Halliday shot to death in 1893 in the home of her husband near Burlington, Sullivan county. The bodies were later found in the hay in a barn on the farm. Later the body of her husband, Paul Halliday, was found. He had been killed before the women and his body hidden away. While an inmate at Matteawan she killed Nellie Weeks, an attendant, who had been particularly good to her.

Bath Beach is Open.

Bath Beach, Kingston Point, is now open for the season of 1918. The grounds have been cleaned and the ladies' dressing rooms completely renovated, making the rooms very cool and comfortable. Rock floors have been placed in the house and a lady attendant has been engaged.

JOHN GOODSELL
FRACTURED SKULL

John Goodsell, 74 years old, who resides at the corner of Delaware avenue and Crane street, while at work on the roof of the residence of Alfred T. Ashby, No. 18 Ponckhockie street, on Friday, was seized with a dizzy spell and fell from a ladder, striking on the back of his head and fracturing his skull. He was removed to the Kingston City Hospital by Dr. A. A. Stern, who was summoned, and operated upon. While still unconscious this morning, his condition was thought to be more favorable.

O'Donnell is Improving.

Frank O'Donnell, of Hoffman street, who sustained a fractured skull by a fall from a boat at the Hiltabrant shipyard at Connelly, is reported as slightly improved at the Kingston City Hospital to which he was removed after the accident.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, June 29.—Favorable news from France overnight, had an influence in causing higher prices at the opening of the stock market today, but business continued quiet and the changes in quotations in nearly all cases being limited to small fractions. Steel Common, made a gain of 1/4 to 108 1/2, and then reacted to 108 1/4. Baldwin was off 1/2, opening at 93 1/2. Crucible was in fairly good demand, advancing 1/2 to 89 1/2. Bethlehem B dropped 1/2 to 85 1/2 and Republic Iron and Steel made a gain of 1/4 to 93 1/4. There was continued activity in Sinclair Oil, which advanced 1/4 to 33 1/2. Anaconda was also in demand, advancing 1/2 to 102 1/2. United Cigar Stores opened up 1/2 to 102 1/2, and then reacted to 102. Reading advanced 1/2 to 93 1/2.

The market closed steady today with nearly all the interest concentrated in the copper shares. American Smelting advanced 1/2 to 80 1/2, and Anaconda was fractionally higher, closing at 68 and Utah ended at 62 1/2. U. S. Steel was finally 108 1/2. Marine Petroleum 102 1/2. Mexican Petroleum 99 1/2. and Sinclair 33 1/2.

"Ah, I Have Had a Fine Meal."

I will have had an adventure. But how queerly those children did act. They ran for all they were worth. I really don't understand it at all. Children come to the circus and gaze and gaze at us, and tell their mothers and their daddies how nice they think we are. But how they did run! And I had come to pay them a nice call. "Sniff, sniff, what is it I smell?" continued the bear. And then he jumped around for joy. "Goodies! Food! Wonderful, wonderful food! How kind of the dear little children. They really expected me to lunch—and when I came they didn't want to make me feel uncomfortable by watching me eat. And so they left me to enjoy all these fine lunches by myself. What a story I will have to tell the other animals!

"Delicious, delicious," the bear kept repeating. "And this little morsel is good, too! Ah, the very kind of sandwich I like—and this one too—my favorite!"

"Ah, I have had a fine meal, a luxurious meal, fit for a king—no, fit for a bear!" And the bear rubbed his front paw over his well-filled tummy and again growled delightedly to himself some more, saying over and over again: "Delicious; such a meal!"

And as the day was rather mild and as the bear didn't mind the cloudy weather he went outside of the school and chose as his bed for a noonday nap the flower bed in front of the school, which was filled with little tulips and daffodils and jonquils.

"A bed of flowers in truth," said the bear.

But along came the keeper of the animals of the circus and led the bear back to his cage. For a circus was traveling through the country and when they had stopped for a rest this bear had escaped. But what a tale he had to tell when he was back in the circus again!

DADDY'S EVENING
FAIRY TALE

AN UNINVITED GUEST.

"Now, children," said the teacher to a class of boys and girls, "we will have a lesson in geography, and then it will be lunch time."

Now in this school the children usually brought their lunches in little brown boxes. The schoolhouse was in the country, and the children lived in all directions.

And, too, it was fun to take their lunch with them. It was like a party—lunchtime in school. So it was good news when the teacher told them that soon they would have their lunch.

Geography came next, but soon it was over and it was time for lunch. The day was rather cloudy, so the children decided to eat in the classroom and have a game of prisoner's base afterwards. Sometimes on the very springlike days they ate their lunches on the porch of the schoolhouse.

"What have you got today?" asked Katharine.

"I've got lettuce sandwiches for one thing," said Letty.

For many and many a time the children exchanged goodies, and so had a fine assortment of delicacies for lunch.

But what should they hear, when they had only just started on their first nibble, but a queer low rumbling noise.

"What can that be?" they asked each other, and then the noise sounded like a soft growl and a queer grunt.

"No one is answering us—that is in a language we can't understand," said one little girl.

"It sounds to me like a bear," said one boy, who said he was the bravest boy in school.

"Oh, nonsense," said another.

"I wouldn't mind," said the first boy.

"Oh, yes, you would," the others answered.

And before they had time to say anything more, standing at the front door of the schoolroom was a big black bear—he wasn't really such a very big fellow—but how big the children thought he was!

"Oh, oh, hurry, hurry, run, run," they all cried.

And along with the others ran the boy who had said he would not mind, if a bear did come in. But the others hadn't time to tease him about it then—at least they didn't think about anything but getting out of the way.

"Oh, wasn't it dreadful?" some of them panted, when they were safe in a nice big barn down the road.

But in the meantime the bear was having the time of his life.

"Well, well, well," he growled softly. "I will have a fine tale to tell the other animals when I get home again."

"Ah, I Have Had a Fine Meal."

I will have had an adventure. But how queerly those children did act. They ran for all they were worth. I really don't understand it at all. Children come to the circus and gaze and gaze at us, and tell their mothers and their daddies how nice they think we are. But how they did run! And I had come to pay them a nice call. "Sniff, sniff, what is it I smell?" continued the bear. And then he jumped around for joy. "Goodies! Food! Wonderful, wonderful food! How kind of the dear little children. They really expected me to lunch—and when I came they didn't want to make me feel uncomfortable by watching me eat. And so they left me to enjoy all these fine lunches by myself. What a story I will have to tell the other animals!

"Delicious, delicious," the bear kept repeating. "And this little morsel is good, too! Ah, the very kind of sandwich I like—and this one too—my favorite!"

"Ah, I have had a fine meal, a luxurious meal, fit for a king—no, fit for a bear!" And the bear rubbed his front paw over his well-filled tummy and again growled delightedly to himself some more, saying over and over again: "Delicious; such a meal!"

And as the day was rather mild and as the bear didn't mind the cloudy weather he went outside of the school and chose as his bed for a noonday nap the flower bed in front of the school, which was filled with little tulips and daffodils and jonquils.

IF
HAIR'S YOUR PRIDE
USE HERPICIDE
THAT air of refinement, that illusive charm which beautiful hair gives is now within the reach of every woman.

Newbro's Herpicide

Even the sensation of the first application will absolutely convince you. Herpicide is an indispensable requisite of every household where personal pride and cleanliness reign. Herpicide stops that annoying itching of the scalp, strengthens the hair roots and promotes health, vigor and luster of the hair undimmed of before.

MEN: If your face smarte after shaving—apply a little Herpicide while your face is wet. Just try it. Tell your barber about it. Herpicide for Mother, Father, Sister and the Boys.

CAUTION: The high tax on alcohol, due to war, has caused a flood of watery hair dressings that keep the hair damp and sticky and chill the scalp by slow evaporation. The stimulating and antiseptic action of alcohol is absolutely necessary and Newbro's Herpicide (containing 40 per cent alcohol) will be kept up to the standard regardless of the cost.

PONCEBOCKIE STARS.

They Shone Friday in "Ye Olde Time School."

One of the best amateur entertainments given in Kingston in some time was that Friday evening in the chapel of the Poncebockie Union Church, on Auburn street, when a number of the young people of that section of the city presented "Ye Olde Time School" to a record breaking attendance.

Long before the entertainment began every seat in the chapel was filled and many had to stand throughout the performance, which proceeded without a hitch. The costumes of the skule master and the scholars were "screams" and kept the audience in chuckles throughout the sessions.

From the snap and vim of the school sessions it was evident to the audience that the "scholars" enjoyed the session as much as any one. Considerable credit should be awarded Miss Hilda Snait, the efficient pianist of the school.

Harold L. Van Deusen presided as skule master, while George Kent as Deacon Tidd, and Miss Helen Plant as Mrs. Amanda Jerusha Quackenbush, were the skule committee visiting the skule to see how "much the scholars had learned."

The scholars were R. H. Van Valkenburgh, Harold Darling, John Kolts, Webster Crane, Herman Gunter, Harvey Kolts, Ernest Heppner, A. W. Buley and the Misses Viola Berryman, Llewellyna Gill, Lillian Metcalf, Ethel Skelton, Anna Winchell, Ruth Gill and Mrs. Walter Tammany.

The first session of the skule was devoted to "lessons" and it was during that session that a number of local hits were made, and were enjoyed not only by the audience, but by those who were "hit." The closing session was devoted to "speaking pieces," while Herman Gunter, as Christopher Columbus, sang "K-k-katy" as a solo. Many of the "pieces" were treated with a local preparation and were thoroughly enjoyed by the audience.

Every one taking part in the skule deserve great credit for their work. Every one filled his or her part in a capable manner and it was impossible to pick out any particular one as the bright shining star. As some in the audience said afterward "they were all stars."

A Sane Outlook. Exaggerated outpourings of our physical ills and troubles tend most certainly to their verification. Our minds respond to salacious scandal (if we allow it to be retailed to us) until we also are vitiated. Exaggerating the faults or the merits of children give them an unduly distorted idea of their importance. The reading of sensational fiction unites us for a proper appreciation of standard literature and exaggeration of architecture and house furnishings places us unmistakably in the ranks of the newly arrived.

Some Fish! "In my entire piscatorial experience," said the truthful traveler, "I never came across a fish so accommodating as the shovel fish of South America. It has a snout the shape of a shovel and it will jump out on the bank and dig bait for you to catch it with."

UNDERNEATH THE CITY HALL DOME

The city officials had their picture "snapped" at the city hall Friday.

No new cases of measles were reported to the health board on Friday. This is the first day since the epidemic started that no cases were reported.

Police court was very quiet this morning, no cases being brought to the attention of Judge Schreck.

Kindergarten work will be taken up Monday under the direction of Director of Public Recreation A. W. Buley. This season Miss Costello and Miss Berg will have charge of the kindergarten classes and the same line of work as taken up last season will be used this season.

Miss Costello will be at School No. 6 Monday morning from 9 to 10:30 a. m.; at School No. 8 from 10:30 to 12 noon; at City Hall Park from 1:30 to 3 and School No. 5 from 3 to 4:30 p. m.

Miss Berg will be at School No. 2 from 9 a. m. to 10:30 a. m.; at Federation House grounds from 10:30 to 12 noon, and at School No. 1 from 2 to 2:30 p. m.

Detecting Malingers. The discovery of a Dutch physician that sudden sounds may cause the pupil of the eye to dilate momentarily is suggested as a novel method of detecting malingers claiming to be totally deaf. Placed in a strong light, the subject is told to look at some distant object and, as the examiner's assistant calls off in a loud voice a number of well separated words—such as "Attention!" and "Forward march!"—the effect on the pupils can be clearly seen.

PRUDENTIAL MEN OUT IN PLUMLAND

The Prudential Insurance Company force of this city are enjoying their annual outing today at Ashokan, where they spent the day in fishing, playing baseball and other games. The men left at 4 o'clock this morning, making the trip by auto and taking with them a basket lunch. As there are many noted anglers among the men of the force it is expected that it would prove a hard day on the pickerel in the reservoir and that fish would be the principal item on the Sunday dinner menu.

BOYS TO GO TO CAMP BLUEFIELDS

Where They Will Take the Cadet Officers' Training Course—Camp is at Blauvelt—There From This Vicinity Selected for Camp.

The state military training commission today announced the names of the boys who are to take the state cadet officers' training course at Camp Bluefields at Blauvelt for four weeks beginning Tuesday next.

The camp is to be conducted as a part of the compulsory military training for boys from 16 to 18 years old inaugurated under the Slater-Welsh law.

There will be 214 cities and towns in the state represented at the camp. About 1,200 cadets will be accommodated. Their only expense for the month's training will be the cost of a uniform. Transportation, maintenance and instruction costs will be borne by the state.

The boys selected to go to camp from this vicinity are listed below: Grand Gorge—Channing P. Clapp. Onondaga—George Emmett West. Roxbury—Samuel G. Lutz. Stamford—Harold Becker Platner. Tannersville—Bernard Olinisky and Clifford L. Snyder. Walden—Raymond Moffatt. Catskill—Pierre S. Baptiste and Samuel C. Hopkins, Jr. Kingston Point—Harry Cornell. Madison and Eglington Hunt Montgomery.

A Patriotic Duty. We owe it as a patriotic duty to ourselves and our friends to keep in a happy frame of mind. With depressed spirits we cannot do our best. And now, if ever, we should keep ourselves in such condition that we can fulfill to the utmost every duty imposed upon us. Let us cultivate daily the happy frame of mind which makes the rest of the world laugh with us.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR THE FOURTH

Aldermen Met Friday Evening and Reports Were Made That Arrangements Had Been Completed for Fourth of July Celebration.

Friday evening the common council met as a committee of the whole to complete plans for the big patriotic celebration and parade to be held in this city the morning of the Fourth of July, and all indications point to the fact that the celebration will be a noteworthy one.

So far thirty-one organizations in the city had accepted invitations to participate in the big parade that will start from Academy Park at 9 o'clock the morning of the Fourth. At the close of the parade exercises will be held in City Hall Park, at which time Judge William D. Cunningham will deliver the principal address and the Rotary Club will present a huge service flag to the city.

The music committee reported it had secured Muller's Band of thirty pieces, and the Bailey Fife and Drum Corps, and had made arrangements to bring the Ellenville Martial Corps to the city.

The committee on decoration reported it had arranged to decorate the city hall and the Soldiers' and Sailors' monument for the Fourth, and that there would be ample seating facilities to accommodate the audience.

Alderman Schick telephoned that he had made arrangements with the trolley and railroad companies not to interfere with the parade and during the time the parade is passing down Broadway trolley cars will not run.

There will be a number of floats in the line of march. It has also been arranged at 8:50 o'clock that morning to have the fire bell give the signal for the parade to start and for all church bells to ring for a period of five minutes. The chiming of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer will play patriotic airs from 8:30 to 8:50, and then the fire bell will ring 1775 and 1918, when the parade would move down Broadway as far as Delaware avenue, counter marching, and then returning to City Hall Park, where the parade would disband and the exercises would be held.

Sunday Work on the Farm.

Washington, D. C., June 29.—It is quite right and proper to do farm work on Sunday if that Sunday work is necessary to produce food crops to help whip Germany. That is the attitude of the rural churches of Indiana, expressed recently in conference at Purdue University. The reason given for this position was the conviction of Indiana rural ministers that Germany is the worst enemy of civilization, and of every church of civilization, and of every church of religion; that the victory of the barbarous Huns would be literally the victory of the devil and the triumph of that pagan monstrosity created by the Kaiser's savage and sacrilegious mind and called by him "the good old German god"; in short, that every church in America is fighting for its existence, just as every other component of civilization is fighting for its existence, and that if Sunday work in saving crops will help overthrow this bestial menace it becomes veritably a churchly work to do. This conference of the rural churches of Indiana was held at Purdue University under the auspices of the Department of Agricultural Extension.

CHILD WELFARE STATION TO OPEN

Kingston's First Station Will be Opened Monday in the Jacobson Building on Hasbrouck Avenue—Miss Bates in Charge.

Kingston's first child welfare station will be opened on Monday in the Jacobson building, corner Hasbrouck avenue and Murray street, with Miss Ella L. Bates of Albany, a trained nurse, in charge. The work of the station will be educational, and every effort will be made to keep well babies well. No sick babies will be cared for at the station, but in case any are brought there they will be referred to the family physician or a hospital.

Miss Bates comes to Kingston well recommended, and has had considerable experience in child welfare work.

She has arranged a schedule of work. Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons from 2 to 4 o'clock each afternoon will be known as baby visiting days. Tuesday afternoon from 3 to 4:30 o'clock will be held little mothers' meetings, while mothers' classes will be held on Thursday afternoons from 1 to 4 o'clock.

Miss Bates will have regular office hours each day from 9 to 10 o'clock in the morning. Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons from 1 to 2 o'clock and Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 12 noon to 1 o'clock.

It should be borne in mind that the idea of a child welfare station is distinctly to keep well babies well. The babies will be weighed and instructions given the mother as to the proper diet to increase baby's weight if it is underweight for its age and size. The main object of a child welfare station is to keep babies well and healthy, and as stated before, no sick babies will be cared for, and when a baby is found ill the parent will be advised to see the family physician.

In other cities the child welfare stations have proven of such value that they have been maintained from year to year, and in many cities more than one station is maintained.

THE FRANKLIN SEDAN

The American Motoring Ideal of Fineness, Simplicity and Economy

The Franklin's consistent delivery to thousands of delighted owners of—

18-20 miles to the gallon of gasoline—instead of 8;
10,000 miles to the set of tires—instead of 5,000

—makes the Franklin Wide Window Sedan the American motoring ideal of fineness, simplicity and economy.

The same reasons that explain the remarkable Franklin Economy, explain its simplicity. It is notable for the lack of complicated, trouble-making parts.

Scientific Light Weight, Flexible Construction, Direct Air Cooling—these are the principles that enable the Franklin Sedan to run easily and resiliently on any road, with an ease of handling that make it safe for anyone to drive. Through these principles comes the Franklin performance—a standard of motoring economy which the average enclosed car, heavy and rigid, cannot hope to attain.

More than this, many new features of the Franklin Sedan are attracting country-wide attention.

You will be interested in its Wide Windows that give the utmost range of vision and eliminate the usual "pent-up" feeling; in the comfort of its seating arrangement and easy entrance; in the rare good taste of its interior appointments.

But—the big, outstanding fact about the Franklin Sedan is this: it combines unusual beauty with unusual economy.

ELECTRIC PRIMER insures ready cold weather starting, even from low-grade gasoline. Minutes spent plus fanning and loading up.	STARTING DEVICE —Simplest, surest, large capacity, controlled by ignition switch. No mashing of gears and pushing of pedals.	NEW OILING SYSTEM with reservoir and wick eliminates messy grease-cup troubles. Sure; requires less attention.	PISTON CONSTRUCTION automatically takes up cylinder wear. Maintains compression. Engine indefinitely retains responsiveness.
MAGNET VIBRATOR produces fast, hot spark for starting even when battery is "low." Another assurance of motoring satisfaction.	LARGER TIRES increase already remarkable tire mileage. 22 x 4 1/2 inch cord tires now on all types assure upmost tire reliability.	AIR INTAKE STRAINER keeps road dust, grit, etc., out of engine internals. Prevents wear in cylinders, valves, etc. Lessens repairs.	INTAKE YOKES HEATER quickly warms up mixture by use of exhaust gases. Original with Franklin; perfected in today's car.

ADDITIONAL CALLS FOR MECHANICS

Another Opportunity for Grammar School Graduates With Mechanical Experience to Get Training in Government Schools.

Local boards for Divisions 1 and 2 of Ulster county received today from the adjutant's office a bulletin giving the particulars of Special Call Nos. 824 and 825. The bulletin stated that the inductions under the last call of this sort "fell flat" and that it was necessary to draft more than three-quarters of the men. Attention is called to the fact that the high rate of pay and the demands for experts in various mechanical lines is common knowledge, and by entering one of these classes a man not only renders to his country the duty which he owes it, but also better fits himself for employment after Berlin is captured.

Under Call 824, the men will be sent to South Bethlehem, Pa., to Lehigh University, for instructions on battery mechanics, carpenters, cooks, concrete worker, electricians, road constructors, telegraphers and track constructors.

Under Call 825, the men will be sent to Oswego board of education to receive instructions as mechanics named in preceding paragraph, and also as bench-wood workers, blacksmiths, gas engine men and sheet metal workers.

Grammar school graduates with mechanical experience (white men in Class 1 physically qualified for general military experience) are eligible under these calls. The men selected will receive a course of training at government expense fitting them to serve in army positions both at the front and behind the lines. They will be assigned during the course to that kind of mechanical training for which the greatest need exists at the time of the call. At the end of the course they will be assigned to various branches of the service in accordance with the needs of the army. They are to receive no assurance of an assignment to any particular branch of the service.

Each man must carry with him at least two suits of underclothing, one suit of outer clothing in good condition, a sweater, a stout pair of shoes, three extra pairs of socks and two bath towels as he will be kept in civilian clothing during the first three weeks until he can be supplied with a uniform and other clothing.

The period for voluntary enlistment under these calls closes July 5, and if enough men have not volunteered by that time to fill the number wanted, the various local boards of this state will be assigned a quota and the balance of the men needed will be drafted.

Those who wish to volunteer under these calls should apply to the officials of their local board.

St. James's Missionary Society.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the St. James Methodist Church held their last meeting for the season on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Myron Teller. Mrs. L. B. Boston presided in the absence of Mrs. R. E. Bell. Mrs. Baragwanath had charge of the program, which proved to be one of unusual interest. There was a very large gathering of interested women of the church, and also some friends of members were present. Never before perhaps was there such generous giving, especially for war work in various forms. Such appeals are always effective. The societies were proud, and well they might be, of the gifts that were forthcoming. The next meeting will be held next September, which will be the annual meeting.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Peter M. Deering died of a complication of diseases at his home in Palenville on Thursday, aged 57 years. He is survived by three sisters and two brothers. The funeral will be held at his late residence on Sunday, June 30, at 2 p. m. Interment will be in Palenville cemetery.

New Time Tables.

The summer schedule will go in effect Sunday on the railroads and will be about the same as last summer.

Crime and Dreaming.

Murderers seldom dream, which is exactly contrary to the idea that a man with a crime on his mind would usually have bad nightmares. Of 125 murderers carefully watched and examined, 96 seldom or never dreamed at all. The greater the criminal the less he dreamed.

AMERICA CALLS BIG BUSINESS CHIEFS TO FIGHT BEHIND FRONT TRENCHES

Great Increase in Post Exchange Service of Y. M. C. A. for Soldiers in France Requires Genius of Nation's Best Executives.

A DISTRIBUTING organization with a $75,000,000 annual turnover desires the services of high class executives from the ranks of big business concerns. The Y. M. C. A. needs men of business executive ability, men who can solve transportation problems, men who can manage out and direct the work in large districts, men who can tackle new, unheard-of problems, men who will give themselves unreservedly to the task, and above all—men of character.

WORK FOR BUSINESS MEN.

This explains why, following the flag, American Big Business went to France with the Red Triangle as its trade mark and sign with service as its object. Because it has made good overwhelmingly, that Red Triangle is the magnet which draws every American soldier overseas.

One has to concede it is a big business organization which operates and keeps supplied six hundred Post Exchanges with the American Expeditionary Forces now, and with five thousand more, when the American Army reaches high tide—an organization which conducts a dozen hotels and restaurants, theatres, and two hundred motor trucks for transporting supplies which demand a monthly transatlantic tonnage of 208 tons for each army division. Buying, selling, building, equipping, transporting and conducting are the grand divisions into which this work falls, and the coordinating of all into one perfect operating machine was an accomplishment worthy of the best American business traditions.

THE GREAT ORGANIZATION

A brief explanation of what this organization is and of the multitudinous activities of the Y. M. C. A. in the war zone is necessary here. Many people in this country believe the Association's work in France consists of doing religious or social work, holding prayer meetings, handing out textbooks and providing lectures. As a matter of fact, these features comprise only a fraction of the vast activities of the organization. One of these men vitally responsible for the success of the organization, Harold D. Sheets, president of the Vacuum Oil companies of France, Spain and Switzerland, was in New York last week. Asked "What can a big business man do to be of service to the soldiers?" he told of the organization and scope of the General Supply Division.

Mr. Sheets formerly lived in Chicago. For several years he has lived in Paris. At the call of the Y. M. C. A. he became a member of the Executive Committee of the War Work Council, taking charge of purchasing and supply.

BIG EXECUTIVES DEMANDED.

"The demand for executives in this work to serve the American soldiers overseas was never greater," said he. "There is a great demand for executives to go out into the big camps, sort of branch headquarters, you might say. The various camps radiate from these big camp centres, which in turn radiate from Paris headquarters. In each central but there is needed a business man, a construction expert, an automobile expert, a motion picture expert and an expert in electrical problems.

Terms of Governors.

There is no approach to uniformity in the terms of the governors of different states of the Union. The governors of two states are elected for one year; those of twenty-one states for two years; the governor of New Jersey for three years, and those of twenty-four states for four years.

Made Him Devout Christian.

Gen. Lew Wallace said that before writing "Ben Hur" he had no fixed religious convictions, but as the story grew and the Christ figure assumed reality his whole life was affected by it and when the work was completed he found himself for the first time in his life a devout Christian.

Tilling the Soil.

No race can prosper till it learns that there is as much dignity in tilling a field as in writing a poem. It is at the bottom of life we must begin, and not at the top. Nor should we permit our grievances to overshadow our opportunities.—Booker T. Washington.

Needs Trained Muscles.

The capacity to exert will power, to make firm resolutions, to decide and to judge propositions accurately on their merits calls for well-cultivated and trained muscles. A flabby-muscled man is apt to be a weak-willed one.—Dr. Leonard Hirschberg.

Under Control.

Willis—"Bunup says he lost control of his car yesterday." Gillis—"That's right. The sheriff has it now."—Judge.

The Unbeliever

It will send you back to truth and happiness.

In the Crush.

"I hugged a girl rather tightly the other night and crushed some important cigarettes." "Yours or hers?"

PONCEBOCKE STARS.

They Shone Friday in "Ye Olde Time School."

One of the best amateur entertainments given in Kingston in some time was that Friday evening in the chapel of the Poncebocke Union Church, on Auburn street, when a number of the young people of that section of the city presented "Ye Olde Time School" to a record breaking attendance.

Long before the entertainment began every seat in the chapel was filled and many had to stand throughout the performance, which proceeded without a hitch. The costumes of the skule master and the scholars were "scraps" and kept the audience in chuckles throughout the sessions.

From the snap and vim of the school sessions it was evident to the audience that these "scholars" enjoyed the session as much as any one. Considerable credit should be awarded Miss Hilda Snelt, the efficient pianist of the school.

Harold L. Van Dusen presided as skule master, while George Kent as Deacon Tidd, and Miss Helen Plant as Mrs. Amanda Jerusha Quackenbush, were the skule committee visiting the skule to see how "much the scholars had learned."

The scholars were R. H. Van Valkenburgh, Harold Darling, John Kolts, Webster Crane, Herman Gunter, Harvey Kolts, Ernest Heppner, A. W. Eiler and the Misses Viola Berry, Llewellyn Gill, Lillian Metcalf, Ethel Skelton, Anna Winchell, Ruth Gill and Mrs. Walter Tammany.

The first session of the skule was devoted to "lessons" and it was during that session that a number of local hits were made, and were enjoyed not only by the audience, but

UNDERNEATH THE CITY HALL DOME

The city officials had their picture "snapped" at the city hall Friday.

No new cases of measles were reported to the health board on Friday. This is the first day since the epidemic started that no cases were reported.

Police court was very quiet this morning, no cases being brought to the attention of Judge Schirck.

Kindergarten work will be taken up Monday under the direction of Director of Public Recreation A. W. Buley. This season Miss Costello and Miss Berg will have charge of the kindergarten classes and the same line of work as taken up last season will be used this season.

Miss Costello will be at school No. 6 Monday morning from 9 to 10:30 a. m.; at school No. 8 from 10:30 to 12 noon; at City Hall Park from 1:30 to 2 and school No. 5 from 3 to 4:30 p. m.

Miss Berg will be at school No. 2 from 9 a. m. to 10:30 a. m. at Federation House grounds from 10:30 to 12 noon, and at school No. 1 from 2 to 2:30 p. m.

Detecting Malingers.

The discovery of a Dutch physician that sudden sounds may cause the pupil of the eye to dilate momentarily is suggested as a novel method of detecting malingers claiming to be totally deaf. Placed in a strong light, the subject is told to look at some distant object and, as the examiner's assistant calls off in a loud voice a number of well separated words—such as "Attention" and "Forward march!"—the effect on the pupils can be clearly seen.

PRUDENTIAL MEN OUT IN PLUMLAND

The Prudential Insurance Company force of this city are enjoying their annual outing today at Ashokan, where they spent the day in fishing, playing baseball and other games. The men left at 4 o'clock this morning, making the trip by auto and taking with them a basket lunch. As there are many noted anglers among the men of the force it is expected that it would prove a hard day on the pickerel in the reservoir and that fish would be the principal item on the Sunday dinner menu.

BOYS TO GO TO CAMP BLUEFIELDS

Where They Will Take the Cadet Officers' Training Course—Camp is at Blairstown—There From This Vicinity Selected for Camp. The state military training commission today announced the names of the boys who are to take the state cadet officers' training course at Camp Bluefields at Blairstown for four weeks beginning Tuesday next.

The camp is to be conducted as a part of the compulsory military training for boys from 16 to 18 years old inaugurated under the Slater-Welsh law.

There will be 214 cities and towns in the state represented at the camp. About 1,200 cadets will be accommodated. Their only expense for the month's training will be the cost of a uniform. Transportation, maintenance and instruction costs will be borne by the state.

The boys selected to go to camp from this vicinity are listed below: Grand Gorge—Channing P. Clapp. Ozonota—George Emmett West. Roxbury—Samuel G. Lutz. Stamford—Harold Becker Platner. Tannersville—Bernard Olinisky and Clifford L. Snyder. Wallen—Raymond Hoffatt. Catskill—Pierre S. Baptiste and Samuel C. Hopkins, Jr. Kingston Point—Harry Cornell Madien and Eglinton Hunt Montgomery.

A Patriotic Duty.

We owe it as a patriotic duty to ourselves and our friends to keep in a happy frame of mind. With depressed spirits we cannot do our best. And, now, if ever, we should keep ourselves in such condition that we can fulfill to the utmost every duty imposed upon us. Let us cultivate daily the happy frame of mind which makes the rest of the world laugh with us.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR THE FOURTH

Aldermen Met Friday Evening and Reports Were Made That Arrangements Had Been Completed for Fourth of July Celebration.

Friday evening the common council met as a committee of the whole to complete plans for the big patriotic celebration and parade to be held in this city the morning of the Fourth of July, and all indications point to the fact that the celebration will be a noteworthy one.

So far thirty-one organizations in the city had accepted invitations to participate in the big parade that will start from Academy Park at 9 o'clock the morning of the Fourth. At the close of the parade exercises will be held in City Hall Park, at which time Judge William D. Cunningham will deliver the principal address and the Rotary Club will present a huge service flag to the city.

The music committee reported it had secured Miller's Band of thirty pieces, and the Bailey Rifle and Drum Corps, and had made arrangements to bring the Ellenville Martial Corps to the city.
 The committee on decoration reported it had arranged to decorate the city hall and the Soldiers' and Sailors' monument for the Fourth, and that there would be ample seating facilities to accommodate the audience.
 Alderman Schick telephoned that he had made arrangements with the trolley and railroad companies not to interfere with the parade and during the time the parades are passing down Broadway trolley cars will not run.
 There will be a number of floats in the line of march. It has also been arranged at 8:50 o'clock that morning to have the fire bell give the signal for the parade to start and for all church bells to ring for a period of five minutes. The chimes of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer will play patriotic airs from 8:30 to 8:50, and then the fire bells would ring from 8:50 to 9:00, when the parade would move down Broadway as far as Delaware avenue, counter marching, and then returning to City Hall Park, where the parade would disband and the exercises would be held.

Sunday Work on the Farm.
 Washington, D. C., June 29.—It is quite right and proper to do farm work on Sunday if that Sunday work is necessary to produce food crops to help whip Germany. That is the attitude of the rural churches of Indiana, expressed recently in conference at Purdue University. The reason given for this position was the conviction of Indiana rural ministers that Germany is the worst enemy of civilization, and of every church of civilization—at all religion everywhere, that is worthy of the name of religion; that the victory of the barbarous Huns would be literally the victory of the devil and the triumph of that pagan monstrosity created by the Kaiser's savage and sacrilegious mind and called by him "the good old German gott." In short, that every church in America is fighting for its existence, just as every other component of civilization is fighting for its existence, and that the work of raising crops will help overthrow this bestial menace. It becomes—veritably a churchly work to do. This conference of the rural churches of Indiana was held at Purdue University under the auspices of the Department of Agricultural Extension.

As You Like It.

CHILD WELFARE STATION TO OPEN

Kingston's First Station Will be Opened Monday in the Jacobson Building on Hasbrouck Avenue—Miss Bates in Charge.

Kingston's first child welfare station will be opened on Monday in the Jacobson building, corner Hasbrouck avenue and Murray street, with Miss Ella L. Bates of Albany, a trained nurse, in charge. The work of the station will be educational, and every effort will be made to keep well babies well. No sick babies will be cared for at the station, but in case any are brought there they will be referred to the family physician or a hospital.

Miss Bates comes to Kingston well recommended, and has had considerable experience in child welfare work.

She has arranged a schedule of work. Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons from 2 to 4 o'clock, each afternoon will be known as baby visiting days. Tuesday afternoons from 3 to 4:30 o'clock will be held little mothers' meetings, while mothers' classes will be held on Thursday afternoons from 1 to 4 o'clock.

Miss Bates will have regular office hours each day from 9 to 10 o'clock in the morning. Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons from 1 to 2 o'clock and Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 12 noon to 1 o'clock.

It should be borne in mind that the idea of a child welfare station is to keep well babies well. The babies will be weighed and instructed given the mother as to the proper diet to increase baby's weight. If it is underweight for its age and size. The main object of a child welfare station is to keep babies well and healthy, and as stated before, no sick babies will be cared for, and when a baby is found ill the parent will be advised to see the family physician.

In other cities the child welfare stations have proven of such value that they have been maintained from year to year, and in many cities more than one station is maintained.

THE FRANKLIN SEDAN

The American Motoring Ideal of Fineness, Simplicity and Economy

The Franklin's consistent delivery to thousands of delighted owners of—
 18-20 miles to the gallon of gasoline—instead of 8;
 10,000 miles to the set of tires—instead of 5,000

—makes the Franklin Wide Window Sedan the American motoring ideal of fineness, simplicity and economy.

The same reasons that explain the remarkable Franklin Economy, explain its simplicity. It is notable for the lack of complicated, trouble-making parts.

Scientific Light Weight, Flexible Construction, Direct Air Cooling—these are the principles that enable the Franklin Sedan to run easily and resiliently on any road, with an ease of handling that make it safe for anyone to drive. Through these principles comes the Franklin performance—a standard of motoring economy which the average enclosed car, heavy and rigid, cannot hope to attain.

More than this, many new features of the Franklin Sedan are attracting country-wide attention.

You will be interested in its Wide Windows that give the utmost range of vision and eliminate the usual "pent-up" feeling; in the comfort of its seating arrangement and easy entrance; in the rare good taste of its interior appointments.

But—the big, outstanding fact about the Franklin Sedan is this: it combines unusual beauty with unusual economy.

ELECTRIC PRIMER —Insures ready cold weather starting, even from low-grade gasoline. Minimum spark plug fouling and loading up.	STARTING DEVICE —Simplest, surest, large capacity; controlled by ignition switch. No mashing of gears and pushing of pedals.	NEW OILING SYSTEM —with reservoir and wick eliminates messy grease-cup trouble. Sure; requires less attention.	Piston CONSTRUCTION —automatically takes up oil under wear. Maintains compression. Engine independent; retains responsiveness.
MASTERS VIBRATION —produces fast, hot spark for starting even when battery is "dead." Another assurance of motoring satisfaction.	LARGER TIRES —increase already remarkable tire mileage. 33 x 4 1/2 inch cord tires now on all types assure utmost tire reliability.	AIR INTAKE STRAINER —keeps road dust, grit, etc., out of engine internals. Prevents wear in cylinders, valves, etc. Lessens repairs.	IT TAKES YORK HEATER —quickly warms up mixture by use of exhaust gases. Original with Franklin; perfected in today's car.
